

Contents

Preface	vii
1: Immortality in Science and Literature: Dreams and Nightmares	1
The Desire for Unending Life in “This World”	1
Second Thoughts on Living Forever	12
The Chance of Literature: Forays into No-Man’s-Land	20
Preludes: Immortality in Myth and Folklore	23
The Risk of Literature: Limits of Creative Imagination	28
Preview: A Literary Theme from Swift to Houellebecq	32
2: Literary Thought Experiments: Life Everlasting, from Blessing to Curse	34
Overview: The Many Faces of Immortality	34
“Joys All Want Eternity”	35
Euphoria of Eternal Youth: J. M. Barrie, Peter Pan	35
Eternity of the All-Too-Human: Italo Calvino, Cosmicomics	42
Utopian Vision: G. B. Shaw, Back to Methuselah	50
The Living Dead: Adolfo Bioy Casares, The Invention of Morel	59
Immortals and Their Antagonists	64
God-Given Finitude: Jonathan Swift, Gulliver’s Travels	65
The Immortal Ape: Aldous Huxley, After Many a Summer Dies the Swan	70
Immortality, Totalitarian-Style: Walter Besant, The Inner House	75
Without Death, No Life: Arthur C. Clarke, The City and the Stars	82

The Scandal of Eternal Beauty: Oscar Wilde, The Picture of Dorian Gray	90
From God to Caveman: Jorge Luis Borges, "The Immortal"	101
Immortality and Its Discontents	107
Alchemy and Gothic Horror: William Godwin and Some English Romantics	107
Boredom of the Cold Heart: Karel Čapek, The Makropulos Secret	114
The Wandering Portuguese: J. M. Machado de Assis, "The Immortal"	122
The View from Sirius: Simone de Beauvoir, All Men Are Mortal	125
Surviving the End of the World: Martin Amis, "The Immortals"	130
The Lady in the Machine: Dino Buzzati, Larger than Life	133
Trouble in Paradise: Michel Houellebecq, The Possibility of an Island	137
A World without Death: Disasters and Happy Endings	147
A Village in Turmoil: Iris Barry, The Last Enemy	148
A Country on the Brink of Ruin: José Saramago, Death at Intervals	152
3: Blessings of Mortality: Limited Time, Limitless Possibilities?	158
Retrospect	158
Renunciation and New Horizons	159
Eternity Nevermore: Salman Rushdie, Grimus	160
Living on in Memory: Gabi Gleichmann, The Elixir of Immortality	164
"Limited Time as a Source of Strength"?: Pascal Mercier, Night Train to Lisbon	166
Epilogue	174
Notes	177
Index of Names	205