

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
List of Contributors	ix
Introduction	1
ERIN HURT
Prologue: A Second Read: Further Reflections on Women-of-Color Chick Lit	25
PAMELA BUTLER AND JIGNA DESAI
SECTION I
Categories of Chick Lit	39
1 “More Than Sex, Shopping, and Shoes”: Cosmopolitan Indigeneity and Cultural Politics in Anita Heiss’s Koori Lit	41
LAUREN O’MAHONY
2 Against Asianness: On Being Cool, Feminist, and American in Asian/American Chick Lit	69
JENNY HEIJUN WILLS
SECTION II
Texts and Tropes	85
3 Narratives of Latina Girlhood in Malín Alegría’s Estrella’s Quinceañera and Sofi Mendoza’s Guide to Getting Lost in Mexico	87
FELICIA SALINAS-MONIZ

vi Contents

4	“I live a fabulous Asian-American life—ask me how!” Kim Wong Keltner Unpacks Contemporary Asian American Female Identity in The Dim Sum of All Things and Buddha Baby	102
	JENNIFER WOOLSTON
5	The “Aha Moment”: Representing Transformation and Black Women’s Trauma in the Chick Lit Genre	115
	CHERISE POLLARD
SECTION III
	Decentering Whiteness	129
6	Neoliberal Fantasies: Erica Kennedy’s Feminista (2009)	131
	HEIKE MISLER
7	The White Terry McMillan: Centering Black Women Within Chick Lit’s Genealogy	150
	ERIN HURT
SECTION IV
	Authorial Voices	175
8	Writing Chica Lit	177
	LINDA CHÁVEZ DOYLE
9	Interview with Kavita Daswani	193
10	Interview with Kim Wong Keltner	197
11	Interview with Sofia Quintero	203
	Conclusion: Reading Neoliberal Fairy Tales	211
	ERIN HURT
	Bibliography	225
	Index	231