

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgements	xiv
Introduction	1
1 Writing a History of Encounters	7
i Aboriginal Art in Australian Art Histories	10
ii Anthropological Studies of Aboriginal Art History	12
iii Legacies of Primitivism	13
iv New Art Histories	15
v Current Directions in Writing on Aboriginal Art	17
2 Exploration and ‘Discovery’	22
i First Encounters: Baudin, Flinders and King, Grey and Stokes	23
ii Secondary Accounts: Hull, Tenison-Woods, Wake, Smyth and Curr	39
3 Searching for the Origin of Art	52
i Early Science: Darwin, Howitt and Tylor	55
ii Following Grey: Bradshaw, Brockman and House, Greig and Walsh	60
4 Seeing the Art of the First Australians	77
i Early Australian Anthropology and Ethnology: between Science and Christianity: Roth, Worsnop, Thornton and Mathew	79
5 Evolutionists and Australian Aboriginal Art	100
i Science and Art History: Ruskin, Decorative Art and Grosse	102
ii Spencer’s Anthropological Influences: Balfour, Haddon, Lang and Frazer	110
6 ‘Aboriginal Art’ in the Writings of Baldwin Spencer	123
i Spencer and Anthropology: Horn Expedition, Native Tribes of Central Australia and Northern Tribes of Central Australia	123

ii	Spencer and Art: Across Australia, Native Tribes of the Northern Territory, The Arunta and Wanderings in Wild Australia	135
7	Collecting and Exhibiting: The Dawn of ‘Primitive Art’	153
i	The First Collections: International and Colonial Exhibitions and the Changing Content of Displays	155
ii	Aboriginal Art and Museums: A Defining Relationship: The Influence of Pitt Rivers on Australian Museum Displays, the Australian Museum in Sydney and from Weapons to Art	165
	Conclusion	182
	Bibliography	185
	Index	201