

Contents

	Page
Introduction	vii
PART I CAPITAL AND ECONOMIC GROWTH
1 ADAM SMITH: Of the Accumulation of Capital, or of Productive and Unproductive Labour (1776)	3
2 WILLIAM ELLIS: Effect of the Employment of Machinery, etc., upon the Happiness of the Working Classes (1824)	25
3 JOHN RAE: On the Nature of Stock (1834)	63
4 JOHN STUART MILL: Fundamental Propositions respecting Capital (1848)	83
Further Reading for Part I	116
PART II THE ACCUMULATION OF CAPITAL
5 ANON.: A General Description of all Trades (1747)	119
6 ANDREW HOOKE: The National Debt and the National Capital (1750)	125
7 Contemporary Estimates of the Growth of Steam Power, 1780-1838	149
8 PATRICK COLQUHOUN: An Attempt to Estimate the Public and Private Property of the United Kingdom . . . (1814)	151
9 Income and Expenditure of Turnpike Trusts in 1836	165
10 G. R. PORTER: On the Accumulation of Capital by the Different Classes of Society (1851)	167
11 SIR ROBERT GIFFEN: Recent Accumulations of Capital in the United Kingdom (1878)	179
Further Reading for Part II	211