

Contents

- 8 Introduction: Artist-to-Artist
David Morris and David Teh
- 12 Artist-to-Artist: Chiang Mai Social Installation in Historical Perspective
David Teh
- 49 Independent Art Festivals in Chiang Mai 1992–98
- 50 Oral Histories of Chiang Mai Social Installation
- 86 'Art Festival: Temples and Cemeteries', November 1992–February 1993
- 94 'Chiang Mai Social Installation: Second Art Festival: Temples, Cemeteries, Private-Residences, Public Buildings, Streets, Bridges, Walls, Rivers and Canals, Open Spaces', November 1993–February 1994
- 124 Week of Cooperative Suffering, 1–7 January 1995
- 136 'Chiang Mai Social Installation: Third Art and Cultural Festival: Temples, Cemeteries, Private-Residences, Public Buildings, Streets, Bridges, Walls, Rivers and Canals, Open Spaces', November 1995–February 1996
- 180 Week of Cooperative Suffering, 1–7 January 1996
- 192 Week of Cooperative Suffering, 1–7 January 1997
- 216 'Chiang Mai Social Installation: Fourth Art and Cultural Festival: Temples, Cemeteries, Private-Residences, Public Buildings, Streets, Bridges, Walls, Rivers and Canals, Open Spaces', December 1997–January 1998
- 244 Chiang Mai: Looking Back at the Nineties
Rosalind C. Morris

252	Art's Potentiality Revisited: Araya Rasdjarmrearnsook's Late Style and Chiang Mai Social Installation May Adadol Ingawanij
264	A Changing World: Phases of the Installative in Southeast Asia Patrick D. Flores
280	Authors' biographies
282	Selected bibliography
284	Picture and text credits
285	Acknowledgements
286	Index