

Table of Contents

---

Introduction

A Cultural History of Neurosis, From Diagnostics to Poetics
Dietmar Meinel | 9

The Lure of Space

Psychasthenia as Mnemonic Device in Michael Cunningham's
Specimen Days
László Munteán | 37

Disintegrated Selves

Dissociative Disorders and Colonial Anxiety in Orhan Pamuk's
The Black Book
Elena Furlanetto | 55

Reading Rap with Fanon and Fanon with Rap

The Potential of Transcultural Recognition
Janula M.I. Wegner | 75

Neoliberalism, Terror, and the Etiology of Neurotic Citizenship

Ariane de Waal | 95

Pegida as *Angstneurotiker

A Linguistic Analysis of Concepts of Fear in Right-wing Populist
Discourses in German Online Media
Derya Gür-Şeker | 115

Ain't It Funny?

Danny Brown, Black Subjectivity, and the Performance of Neurosis
Alex Blue V | 137

Neurosis as Resilience in Jhumpa Lahiri's Diasporic Short Fictions

Angelo Monaco | 159

Allegories of Pathology

Post-War Colonial Expatriate and Imperial Neurosis in F. Scott Fitzgerald's Tender is the Night and Derek Walcott's Omeros
Sneharika Roy | 179