

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Note on references, quotations and translations	xii
List of abbreviations	xiv

Introduction	I
--------------	---

PART I ENGLAND AND SWITZERLAND, 1737–1763

1 Putney, Oxford and the question of English Enlightenment	13
The Gibbon family and the crisis in church and state	13
The visit to Stourhead and the venture into Anglican historiography	28
Gibbon at Oxford: a crisis in authority	43
2 Lausanne and the Arminian Enlightenment	50
3 The re-education of young Gibbon: method, unbelief and the turn towards history	72
4 The Hampshire militia and the problems of modernity	94
5 Study in the camp: erudition and the search for a narrative	121

PART II THE ENCOUNTER WITH PARIS AND THE DEFENCE OF ERUDITION, 1761–1763

6 The politics of scholarship in French and English Enlightenment	137
7 Erudition and Enlightenment in the Académie des Inscriptions	152
8 D'Alembert's Discours préliminaire : the philosophe perception of history	169

9	The Essai sur l'étude de la littérature : imagination, irony and history	208
10	Paris and the gens de lettres : experience and recollection	240
PART III LAUSANNE AND ROME: THE JOURNEY TOWARDS A SUBJECT, 1763-1764
11	The return to Lausanne and the pursuit of erudition	261
12	The journey to Rome and the transformation of intentions	275
	Epilogue: Gibbon and the rhythm that was different	292
	List of references	309
	Index	324