

Contents

| | |
|--|------------|
| Acknowledgements | ix |
| 1. Introduction | 1 |
| 2. Semantics: aims, explanations and theories | 7 |
| 2.1 The aims of semantic theorising | 8 |
| 2.2 Methods and explanations in semantics | 16 |
| 2.3 Four kinds of semantic theories | 19 |
| 3. The case for Semantic Pluralism | 41 |
| 3.1 The argument from unspecific contexts | 44 |
| 3.2 The argument from explanatory value | 69 |
| 3.3 Objections and replies | 72 |
| 4. Semantic Pluralism | 81 |
| 4.1 Flexible Pluralism | 82 |
| 4.2 Strong Pluralism | 88 |
| 4.3 Pluralist semantics | 91 |
| 4.4 Pluralism in a Gricean model of communication | 100 |
| 4.5 Pluralism and what is said | 109 |
| 5. Responding to objections to Semantic Pluralism | 115 |
| 5.1 The instability objection | 116 |
| 5.2 The objection from truth-value judgements | 119 |
| 5.3 The objection from validity judgements | 123 |
| 5.4 The objection from belief | 139 |
| 5.5 The objection from literalism judgements | 143 |
| 6. Outlook | 149 |
| Bibliography | 155 |