

Contents

Introduction	ix
Acknowledgements	xvii
Part I The Principles of Political Structuration: Structure, Agency, and the Development of the Modern State
1 Political Structuration and Political Science	3
2 The Elements of Structure	26
3 Patterns of Political Agency: Markets, Hierarchies, and Political Allocation	56
4 The Modern State at the Crossroads: Structuring the Field of Political Action	85
Part II Changing Patterns of Political Structuration and the Future of the State
5 The Limits of Political Power: Personal Leadership and Party Systems	113
6 The State and Interest Intermediation: Patterns of Collaborative Behavior	147
7 The Paradox of Civil Society: De-differentiation and Re-differentiation in the Contemporary State	181
8 Transnational Structures and State Responses: from the Welfare State to the Competition State	204
Epilogue: Political Structuration and Political Ideas in the Twenty-first Century	233
Select Bibliography	248
Index	257