

Contents

Introduction – Just a perfect day

Editorial board 6

ROMAN PERIOD

Contextualising ethnicity and the rhetoric of burial rites in Late Antique Northern Gaul: the evidence from settlements and precious metal circulation

Stijn Heeren & Nico Roymans 8

From Cordoba to Bellagio: Frans Theuws and the transformation of the Roman world (1993-1998)

Mayke de Jong 15

EARLY MEDIEVAL

Living in Oegstgeest 575-725 AD

Jasper de Bruin 20

Worlds apart?

Towards an integration of Dutch research traditions in medieval archaeology

Johan Nicolay 26

Texandria revisited: in search of a territory lost in time

Arnoud-Jan Bijsterveld &

Lauran Toorians 34

By wounds made worthy? Interpreting sharp bladed trauma in the early medieval cemeteries of Maastricht and Rijnsburg (the Netherlands)

Raphael Panhuysen &

Menno Dijkstra 43

A 'Coptic' bowl from Ewijk and its cemetery context

Annemarieke Willemsen 56

The slow and difficult search for early medieval Tongeren

Alain Vanderhoeven 60

A status quaestionis of the early medieval burial archaeology in the Flemish part of the Meuse-Demer-Scheldt region

Rica Annaert 65

Saint Martin, Saint Montan(t) and the early rooting of Christianity in the Pays-de-Gaume

Dick E.H. de Boer 69

Transparency in the eighth century. Glass at the dawn of a major change

Line Van Wersch 75

Steps in the dark: 7th century paired shoe depositions in the Netherlands

Carol van Driel-Murray 80

'Rich' women along the Upper Rhine: an extraordinary group of single female burials ca. 450-500 AD

Susanne Brather-Walter &

Sebastian Brather 86

Dealing with death and memory in sixth century Ravenna

Cristina La Rocca 89

Complementary cemeteries and the significance of the place of interment

Femke Lippok 92

How many years should chronological units cover in archaeology?

Frank Siegmund 96

Early medieval amber beads in Northern Gaul

Mette Langbroek 105

Exchanges with the dead – the economic aspects of reopening graves

Martine van Haperen 110

The eighth-century economic recession in the North Sea regions: crisis or chimera?

Richard Hodges 115

Journeying with Madelinus – Bergeijk, via Nijmegen, Amsterdam and Leiden, to the plains and hills of Northern Italy

Arent Pol 119

The enigma of the oval-shaped house on the Northwest European Plain, AD 475-1000

Antoinette Huijbers 126

Animal symbolism, silver smiths, Merovingian graves and early Christianity: (how) are they connected?

Mirjam Kars 136

Wearing brooches: the changing value of a Roman status symbol

Irene Barbiera 144

Merovingian grave structures in the southern Netherlands

Maaïke de Haas 149

Back to Bergeijk and Oerle. The Campine settlement model revisited

Arno Verhoeven 155

Frans Theuws and Maastricht: inalienable or inseparable?

Eric Wetzels 161

“Dorestad is simply Dorestad” (and Comacchio is simply Comacchio): lessons from Frans on regional and long-distance trade in early medieval Italy

Sauro Gelichi 167

Cult, assembly and trade: the dynamics of a ‘central place,’ in Ghent, in the County of Flanders, including its social reproduction and the re-organization of trade, between the 7th and 11th centuries

Dries Tys 171

Centering the ‘liminal’ Middle Ages: reading between the historical and archaeological lines

Nelleke IJssennagger-Van der Pluijm 179

EARLY MEDIEVAL IN THE MIDDLE EAST

A new early Christian inscription from the church of Udhruh (South Jordan)

Mark Driessen & Fawzi Abudanah 184

All along the watchtower: feasting in early medieval Butrint, Albania

Joanita Vroom 189

LATE MEDIEVAL

A biography of Martfelde: medieval settlement mobility in the Campine region (southern Netherlands)

Nico Arts 196

On ‘tombs’ and mottes: interdisciplinary research in Brabant, a ‘broken up’ duchy

Bas Aarts 201

A Zutphen great hall which never materialized?

Michel Groothedde 206

Peasants for Frans: the visibility of predial peasants, free farmers and freemen in the “Hof van Delft”, during the demanoralisation period

Epko Bult 214

MODERN ARCHAEOLOGY

Alfred-Louis Delattre, Christian missions and the ancient lamps of Carthage

Bonnie Effros 230

Science imagined. Visualising the series ‘Merovingian Archaeology in the Low Countries’

Bregt Balk 233

Tracing the persistence of medieval plot boundaries in a central street: Breestraat in Leiden, The Netherlands

Marcel IJsselstijn 236

Tradesmen’s tales: an appeal for the reform of current publication practices in Dutch archaeology

Wim Kemme & Paul Kimenai 243

Memento amicitiae

A porcelain commemorative tobacco pipe from Camp Oirschot, the Netherlands (1832-1834)

Jos Bazelmans, Jan-Willem de Kort & Jan van Doesburg 248

Bibliography 256