

Contents

- viii Foreword
TIMOTHY POTTS AND CHRISTOPHER LE BRUN
- ix Acknowledgments
- xii Lenders to the Exhibition
- xiii Contributors
- 1 Introduction: The Renaissance Nude, 1400–1530
JILL BURKE, STEPHEN J. CAMPBELL, AND THOMAS KREN
- Part One: The Nude and Christian Art
- 17 Christian Imagery and the Development of the Nude in Europe
THOMAS KREN
Catalogue numbers 1–23
- Part Two: Humanism and the Expansion of Secular Themes
- 81 From Venus to Witches: The Female Nude in Northern Europe
DIANE WOLFFHAL
Catalogue numbers 24–35
- 117 “Painting Venus” in the Poetic Tradition of the Early Renaissance
C. JEAN CAMPBELL
Catalogue numbers 36–41
- 141 Naked Truth: Humanism, Poetry, and the Nude in Renaissance Art
STEPHEN J. CAMPBELL
Catalogue numbers 42–54
- Part Three: Artistic Theory and Practice
- 183 The Body in Artistic Theory and Practice
JILL BURKE
Catalogue numbers 55–77
- 247 The Renaissance Nude and the Study of the Antique
DAVIDE GASPAROTTO
Catalogue numbers 78–82
- Part Four: Beyond the Ideal Nude
- 269 Unruly Bodies: The Uncanny, the Object, the Excessive
STEPHEN J. CAMPBELL
Catalogue numbers 83–93
- Part Five: Personalizing the Nude
- 307 “Here’s Looking at You”: Ambiguities of Personalizing the Nude
ULRICH PFISTERER
Catalogue numbers 94–111
- 358 Epilogue One: Reformation and Beyond in Northern Europe
THOMAS KREN
- 365 *Epilogue Two: Michelangelo’s Last Judgment and the Reception of the Nude in Counter-Reformation Italy*
THOMAS DEPASQUALE
Catalogue number 112
- 376 Exhibitions Cited
- 382 References Cited
- 408 Illustration Credits
- 409 Index