
Contents

| | |
|---|-----|
| Preface | vii |
| Surveying the Scene—Some Introductory Remarks W. G. Sebald | 1 |
| 1. The State of the Stage—The Decline of Commitment in the Contemporary German Theatre Sybille Wirsing | 9 |
| 2. Blacking Up—Three Productions by Peter Stein David Bradby | 18 |
| 3. Myth and Mythology in the Drama of Botho Strauss Irmela Schneider | 31 |
| 4. ‘Dramatisches Talent hat sie nicht, doch viele schöne Worte’—Friederike Roth as a Playwright Lucinda Rennison | 52 |
| 5. The Anxiety of Influence Tankred Dorst’s Deutsche Stücke Steve Giles | 64 |
| 6. Subject, Politics, Theatre—Reflections on Franz Xaver Kroetz Moray McGowan | 77 |
| 7. The Child Grows Up—Towards a History of the Grips Theater Horst Claus | 93 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| 8. A New Definition of 'Eingreifendes Theater'—Some Recent Productions in the Theatre of the GDR Anthony Meech | 110 |
| 9. Back to the Future—Volker Braun and the German Theatrical Tradition Julian Hilton | 124 |
| 10. Homburg-Machine—Heiner Müller in the Shadow of Nuclear War J. H. Reid | 145 |
| 11. The Excitement of Boredom—Thomas Bernhard Rüdiger Görner | 161 |
| 12. The Art of Transformation—Herbert Achternbusch's Theatrical Mission W. G. Sebald | 174 |
| Notes on Playwrights and Directors | 185 |
| Notes on Contributors | 192 |
| Select Bibliography | 195 |
| Index | 196 |