

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
Introduction	xvii
Chronology of Jack Kerouac's Life	xxi
Kerouac's Introduction	xxiii

THE LEGEND OF DULUOZ

EDITOR'S INTRODUCTION	3
from Doctor Sax	19
"It was in Centralville I was born . . . across the wide basin to the hill—on Lupine Road, March 1922, at five o'clock . . ."
from Visions of Gerard	21
"For the first four years of my life, while he lived, I was not Ti Jean Duluoz, I was Gerard, the world was his face . . ."
"Home at Christmas"	43
"It's a Sunday afternoon in New England just three days before Christmas . . ."
from Doctor Sax	49
"Two o'clock—strange—thunder and the yellow walls of my mother's kitchen with the green electric clock . . ."
from Maggie Cassidy	63
"The Concord River flows by her house, in July evening

- the ladies of Massachusetts Street are sitting on wooden doorsteps with newspapers for fans . . .”
 from Vanity of Duluo 92
- “What dreams you get when you think you’re going to go to college . . .”
 from On the Road 139
- “With the coming of Dean Moriarty began the part of my life you could call my life on the road . . .”
 “The Mexican Girl” (from On the Road) 173
- “I had bought my ticket and was waiting for the L. A. bus . . .”
 from On the Road 192
- “It was drizzling and mysterious at the beginning of our journey . . .”
 “Jazz of the Beat Generation” 222
- “Out we jumped in the warm mad night hearing a wild tenorman’s bawling horn . . .”
 from “The Railroad Earth” (from Lonesome Traveler) 232
- “There was a little alley in San Francisco back of the Southern Pacific station at Third and Townsend in redbrick of drowsy lazy afternoons . . .”
 from The Subterraneans 245
- “I had never heard such a story from such a soul except from the great men I had known in my youth, great heroes of America . . .”
 from Tristessa 260
- “I’m riding along with Tristessa in the cab, drunk, with big bottle of Juarez Bourbon whiskey in the till-bag railroad lootbag . . .”
 from The Dharma Bums 277
- “Hopping a freight out of Los Angeles at high noon one day in late September 1955 . . .”
 from “Good Blonde” 281
- “‘Damn,’ said I, ‘I’ll just hitchhike on that highway’ (101) seeing the fast flash of many cars . . .”
 from The Dharma Bums 291
- “In Berkeley I was living with Alvah Goldbook in his little rose-covered cottage in the backyard of a bigger house on Milvia Street . . .”

Contents	xiii
from Desolation Angels	320
"It was on this trip that the great change took place in my life . . ."
from Big Sur	396
"The last time I ever hitch hiked—And NO RIDES a sign . . ."

POETRY

EDITOR'S INTRODUCTION	449
from San Francisco Blues	453
"Daydreams for Ginsberg"	456
"Rose Pome"	457
"Woman"	458
"Rimbaud"	458
"Hymn" ("And when you showed me Brooklyn Bridge")	463
"Poem" ("I demand that the human race ceases multiplying")	464
"A Pun for Al Gelpi"	465
"Two Poems Dedicated to Thomas Merton"	466
"How to Meditate"	466
"Hitch Hiker"	467
"Pome on Doctor Sax"	468
from Book of Haikus: "Some Western Haikus"	469
"Sea: The Sounds of the Pacific Ocean at Big Sur"	473

ON SPONTANEOUS PROSE

EDITOR'S INTRODUCTION	481
"Belief & Technique for Modern Prose"	483
"Essentials of Spontaneous Prose"	484
"The First Word: Jack Kerouac Takes a Fresh Look at Jack Kerouac"	486
"Are Writers Made or Born?"	488

THE MODERN SPONTANEOUS METHOD

EDITOR'S INTRODUCTION	493
"In the Ring"	497
"On the Road to Florida"	500

from Visions of Cody	506
"The Three Stooges"	506
"Well, Cody is always interested in himself . . ."	512
"Joan Rawshanks in the Fog"	515
from Book of Dreams	532
from Old Angel Midnight	544

ON BOP AND THE BEAT GENERATION

EDITOR'S INTRODUCTION	551
"The Beginning of Bop"	555
"About the Beat Generation"	559
"Lamb, No Lion"	562
" Beatific : The Origins of the Beat Generation"	565
"After Me, the Deluge"	573

ON BUDDHISM

EDITOR'S INTRODUCTION	581
"The Last Word: Because none of us want to think that the universe is a blank dream . . ."	585
from Book of Dreams	587
from The Scripture of the Golden Eternity	590

SELECTED LETTERS

EDITOR'S INTRODUCTION	601
To Norma Blickfelt, August 25, 1942	603
Young merchant seaman Kerouac describes his dream of becoming a writer
To Neal Cassady, May 22, 1951	605
Account to Neal about "my book about you" [ On the     Road ]
To John Clellon Holmes, June 3, 1952	608
"Wild form's the only form holds what I have to say. . . ."
To Allen Ginsberg, October 1, 1957	611
"Everything's been happening here" the week after publication of On the Road

Contents	xv
To Allen Ginsberg, September 22, 1960 Description of West Coast trip later dramatized in Big Sur	614
To Sterling Lord, May 5, 1961 List of books comprising the Duluoz Legend	616
To Ann Charters, August 5, 1966 Invitation to visit him in Hyannis and work together on his bibliography: "I've kept the neatest records you ever saw"	617
Identity Key	619
Books by Jack Kerouac	621
List of Originally Published Sources	623