

Content

1. Introduction	17
1.1. Aim and research questions	17
1.2. Outline of the argument	20
1.3. Research design and cases	21
1.4. Contributions of the book	22
1.5. Outline of the book	24
2. Key Concepts and Analytical Framework	27
2.1. Introduction	27
2.2. Policy concertation	27
2.2.1. Policy concertation, corporatism and consociational democracy	28
2.2.2. From macro-level to meso-level corporatism	30
2.2.3. Policy concertation, globalisation and European integration	32
2.3. European integration and market-making policies	34
2.4. Europeanization	36
2.4.1. What is Europeanization? A definition	36
2.4.2. What do we know about Europeanization and domestic policy-making? A brief literature overview	37
2.4.3. The recent debate on causality	39
2.5. Actors and institutions: Two logics of action in studying Europeanization	42
2.5.1. New institutionalist approaches and Europeanization research	43
2.5.2. The role of institutions	45
2.5.3. Actors, coalitions and policy preferences	46
2.6. A two-step analytical framework	47
2.6.1. First step: How domestic actors use European policies	48
Strategic use of the European policy	49
Cognitive and normative use of European policy	52
2.6.2. Second step: Modified actor constellation and policy concertation	55
2.6.3. Europeanization inside and outside the EU: Same impact?	57
2.6.4. Overview of the mechanisms and working hypotheses	60

2.7. Assessing Europeanization	64
2.7.1. Assessing the outcome: Types of policy concertation	64
2.7.2. How to establish evidence of Europeanization?	66
2.8. Summary	67
3. Research Design and Methods	71
3.1. Case study analysis and the method of process tracing	71
3.2. The research design	72
3.3. Operationalisation	76
3.3.1. Dependent variable: Domestic policy concertation	76
3.3.2. Differential empowerment and coalition formation	78
3.3.3. Explanatory factors and causal mechanisms	80
3.4. Data	82
3.4.1. Data sources: Documents and interviews	82
3.4.2. Discussion of the data	83
3.5. Case Selection	85
3.5.1. Country comparison: Policy-making in Belgium and in Switzerland	85
3.5.2. Definition and selection of the policy cases	86
Definition of a policy case	86
Selection criteria	87
Selected cases: Electricity market liberalisation, competition         law reform and occupational pension reform	88
3.6. Summary	90
4. The Political Systems of Belgium and Switzerland	93
4.1. A short overview of the history of the two countries	93
4.1.1. Belgium	93
4.1.2. Switzerland	95
4.2. Political parties, governments and parliaments in the two countries	97
4.2.1. Political parties, government und parliament in Belgium	97
4.2.2. Political parties, government und parliament in Switzerland	100
4.3. Social-partners and the institutions of corporatist policy-making	102
4.3.1. Social partners and other associations	102
4.3.2. The institutions of corporatist policy-making	104
4.4. The decision-making processes in the two countries	106
4.4.1. The standard decision-making process in Switzerland	107

4.4.2.	The standard decision-making process in Belgium	108
4.5.	Summary	110
5.	Electricity Market Liberalisation	113
5.1.	Electricity market liberalisation in the EU	113
5.1.1.	Aim and global spread of electricity market liberalisation	113
5.1.2.	The development in Europe and in the EU	114
5.2.	Electricity market liberalisation in Switzerland: 1994 to 2002	117
5.2.1.	The Swiss electricity sector and its regulation before liberalisation	118
	Electricity sector before liberalisation	118
	Electricity regulation before liberalisation	120
5.2.2.	Electricity market Act (2000) and Electricity Supply Act (2007)	121
5.2.3.	The decision-making process of the Electricity Market Act	123
	Concertation phase	123
	Parliamentary phase	127
	Referendum phase	128
5.2.4.	Explaining the process: Evidence of Europeanization?	129
	Usages of the European policy and domestic actor constellation	129
	Domestic actor constellation and policy concertation	135
	Alternative explanations for the observed type of policy concertation?	135
5.2.5.	Conclusion	136
5.3.	Electricity market liberalisation in Belgium: 1996 to 1999	138
5.3.1.	The Belgian electricity sector and its regulation before liberalisation	138
	The electricity sector before liberalisation	138
	Electricity regulation before liberalisation	140
5.3.2.	The 29 April 1999 act and further legislation	142
5.3.3.	The decision-making process of the 29 April 1999 Act	144
	Concertation phase	144
	Parliamentary phase	148
5.3.4.	Explaining the process: Evidence of Europeanization?	148
	Usages of the European policy and domestic actor constellation	149
	Domestic actor constellation and policy concertation	152
	Alternative explanations for the observed type of policy concertation?	153

5.3.5.	Conclusion	154
6.	Competition Policy Reform	157
6.1.	Aim and development of competition policy in Europe	157
6.1.1.	Definition of the main competition-impeding behaviours	157
6.1.2.	The development of the European competition law	158
6.1.3.	Development of competition legislation in the EU: Towards convergence	160
6.1.4.	Recent reforms of European competition policy in the 2000s	161
6.2.	Competition reform in Switzerland: 1999 to 2003	162
6.2.1.	A short history of Swiss competition law and policy	162
6.2.2.	The 2003 Competition Act	166
6.2.3.	The decision-making process of the 2003 reform Concertation phase	167 168
	Parliamentary phase	171
6.2.4.	Explaining the process: Evidence of Europeanization? Usages of the European policy and domestic actor constellation	172 173
	Domestic actor constellation and policy concertation	177
	Alternative explanations for the observed type of policy concertation?	177
6.2.5.	Conclusion	178
6.3.	Competition law reform in Belgium: 2003 to 2006	179
6.3.1.	Belgian competition law before the 2006 reform	180
6.3.2.	The 2006 reform of the Belgian Competition Act	182
6.3.3.	The decision-making process of the 2006 reform Concertation phase	186 186
	Parliamentary phase	190
6.3.4.	Explaining the process: Evidence of Europeanization? Usages of the European policy and domestic actor constellation	190 191
	Domestic actor constellation and policy concertation	193
	Alternative explanations for the observed type of policy concertation	195
6.3.5.	Conclusions	195
7.	Occupational Pension Reform	197
7.1.	Introduction	197

7.2.	Occupational pension reform in Switzerland: 1996 to 2003	199
7.2.1.	A short history of Swiss occupational pension policy	199
7.2.2.	The 2003 occupational pension reform	202
7.2.3.	The decision-making process of the 2003 reform	204
	Concertation phase	204
	Parliamentary phase	206
	Characterisation of the process	207
7.2.4.	Explaining change in the control case	208
7.2.5.	Conclusion	211
7.3.	Occupational pensions reform in Belgium: 1999 to 2003	212
7.3.1.	A short history of the Belgian occupational pensions	212
7.3.2.	The 2003 reform of the Belgian complementary pension system	215
7.3.3.	The decision-making process of to the 2003 reform	217
	Concertation phase	218
	Parliamentary phase	221
	Characterisation of the process	222
7.3.4.	Explaining change in the control case	223
7.3.5.	Conclusion	226
8.	Comparison of the Cases	229
8.1.	Summary of the results	229
8.2.	Intra-state comparison	231
8.2.1.	Cases with and without a European policy in Switzerland	231
8.2.2.	Cases with and without a European policy in Belgium	237
8.3.	Cross-country comparison: the role of EU membership	244
8.4.	Results and conclusions regarding the analytical framework	247
8.5.	Summary	252
9.	Conclusion	255
9.1.	Main empirical findings	257
9.2.	Contributions to the Europeanization literature	260
9.2.1.	Theoretical contribution: indirect processes of Europeanization	261
9.2.2.	Questions of causality	262
9.3.	Contributions to the corporatism literature	264

Content

References	267
Documents	286
Interviews	300