

| | |
|---|---|
| FREDERIKE MIDDELHOFF / SEBASTIAN SCHÖNBECK / ROLAND BORGARDS / CATRIN GERSDORF | |
| Preface | 9 |

| | |
|--|----|
| FREDERIKE MIDDELHOFF / SEBASTIAN SCHÖNBECK | |
| Coming to Terms: The Poetics of More-than-human Worlds | 11 |

New Perspectives: Eco-Zoopoetics

| | |
|---|----|
| AARON M. MOE | |
| Holding on to Proteus; or, Toward a Poetics of Gaia | 41 |

| | |
|---|----|
| STEPHANIE POSTHUMUS | |
| Eco-Animal Assemblages in Contemporary French Thought | 55 |

| | |
|--|----|
| MARIE CAZABAN-MAZEROLLES | |
| Narrating le vivant : the Zoe -Poetical Hypothesis | 71 |

| | |
|--|----|
| ALEXANDER KLING | |
| Action, Framework, and the Poetics of “Co-Making”: A Testing Device for Ecological Narratives | 83 |

Theory and Genre

| | |
|---|----|
| ROLAND BORGARDS | |
| The Beetle Is in the Eye of the Beholder: Animal Ecologies, Situated Poetics and the Poetry of Annette von Droste-Hülshoff | 99 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| SEBASTIAN SCHÖNBECK | |
| Return to the Fable: Rethinking a Genre Neglected in Animal Studies and Ecocriticism | 111 |

BENJAMIN BÜHLER

Other Environments:

Ecocriticism and Science Fiction (Lem, Ballard, Dath) 127

WINFRIED NÖTH

Peirce on the Continuity between Human and Nonhuman Minds . . . 139

Epistemology and Aesthetics

KÁRI DRISCOLL

“Il n’y a pas de chats”:

Feline Absence and/as the Space of Zoopoetics 159

JESSICA GÜSKEN

Blooming Flowers, Fish in Water, Amphibians, and Apes:

Herder’s Environmental Aesthetics of Nature. 175

VERENA MEIS

“The jellyfish must have precedence!”:

The Diaphanous Animal as an Optical Medium 189

DAN GORENSTEIN

Ants and Battlefields, Beetles and Landscapes:

Rudiments for a Naturalistic Reading of Ernst Jünger’s Interwar

Essays through the Lens of His Later Entomological Hermeneutics. . 201

DOMINIC O’KEY

W. G. Sebald’s Zoopoetics: Writing after Nature 217

Space and Agency

MARGO DEMELLO

The Rabbits of Okunoshima:

How Feral Rabbits Alter Space, Create Relationships, and Communicate with People and Each Other. 231

| | |
|--|-----|
| SARAH BEZAN | |
| A Darwinism of the Muck and Mire: | |
| Decomposing the Eco- and Zoopoetics of Stephen Collis’ | |
| and Jordan Scott’s decomp | 241 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| MATTHIAS PREUSS | |
| How to Disappear Completely: | |
| Poetics of Extinction in Max Frisch’s Man in the Holocene | 253 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| CLAIRE CAZAJOUS-AUGÉ | |
| The Traces Animals Leave: | |
| A Zoopoetic Study of Rick Bass’ “Antlers” | 269 |

Ethos and Ethics

| | |
|---|-----|
| KATE RIGBY | |
| “Piping in their honey dreams”: Towards a Creaturely Ecopoetics . . . | 281 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| SUSAN McHUGH | |
| Cross-Pollinating: Indigenous Frictions and Honeybee Fictions | 295 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| AXEL GOODBODY | |
| Wolves and Wolf Men as Literary Tropes and Figures of Thought: | |
| Eco- and Zoopoetic Perspectives on Jiang Rong’s Wolf Totem | |
| and Other Wolf Narratives. | 307 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| GABRIELE DÜRBECK | |
| Empathy, Violence, and Guilt in a Girl-Chimp Experiment: | |
| An Analysis of Human-Animal Relations in Karen Joy Fowler’s | |
| Novel We Are Completely Beside Ourselves (2013) | 325 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| FREDERIKE MIDDELHOFF | |
| (Not) Speaking for Animals and the Environment: | |
| Zoopoetics and Ecopoetics in Yoko Tawada’s | |
| Memoirs of a Polar Bear | 339 |

| | |
|------------------------|-----|
| Contributors | 355 |
|------------------------|-----|