

Contents

List of Figures	xii
List of Tables	xv
Preface	xvii
Introduction: Background and Purpose of the Volume and the Conference	1
Chapter One The Context of the Conference Hayward R. Alker, Jr.	3
Chapter Two Toward Drift Models and Steering Models Karl W. Deutsch	5
Part I General Problems of World Modeling	11
Chapter Three Relevance for Policy: A Brief Exchange among Erwin Solomon, Karl W. Deutsch, Hayward R. Alker, Jr.	13

Chapter Four
Some Issues Raised by Previous World Models	17
Hayward R. Alker, Jr. and Ann Tickner
Introduction	17
An Outline of the World Models Analysis	18
Dimensions of Controversy	24
Conclusion	30
Selected References	30
Chapter Five
The Bariloche Model	33
Carlos Mallmann
Chapter Six
How Should We Model Policy Makers?	47
William D. Nordhaus
Chapter Seven
Major Accounting Problems for a World Model	57
Richard Stone
Introduction	57
Accounting Frameworks: Economics	58
Accounting Frameworks: The Environment	68
Accounting Frameworks: Social Demography	71
Choosing the Pieces	76
Putting the Pieces Together	78
Conclusions	79
A List of Works Cited	81
Chapter Eight
Discussion on Accounting Approaches among Walter Isard, Anatol Rapoport, Otto Eckstein, Hayward R. Alker, Jr.	85
Walter Isard	85
Anatol Rapoport	86
Otto Eckstein	89
Hayward R. Alker, Jr.	92
Part II
Politics and Classes	95

Chapter Nine
World Resources and the World Middle Class	97
Nathan Keyfitz
Chapter Ten
The New Interimperial System	117
Helio Jaguaribe
Introductory Remarks	117
The New System	118
The American Empire	119
The Soviet Empire	120
The New Stratification	120
Empire and Imperialism	122
New Soviet Primacy	123
China	123
New Autonomy	124
Three Third Worlds	125
Destabilizing Factions	126
World Authority	128
Concluding Remarks	129
Chapter Eleven
More Self-Reliance as an Alternative Policy	131
Dieter Senghaas
Chapter Twelve
Challenge to Models: How Can Patterns of International Dependence and Participation be Quantified and Simulated?	137
Fernando Henrique Cardoso
Karl W. Deutsch's Questions	141
Fernando Henrique Cardoso's Reply	142
Chapter Thirteen
The New International Economic Order: Social Implications and Political Requirements	145
Celso Lafer
Models after World War II	145
The Legitimacy Crisis	146
Collaboration, Consensus, and Reciprocity	147
Conclusions	149

Part III
The Data Question	151
Chapter Fourteen
Data Priorities for Modeling Global Dependence	153
Bruce Russett
Chapter Fifteen
Further Analyses on Global Dependence: An Exchange with Bruce Russett	161
Dieter Senghaas
Chapter Sixteen
Problems of Data Availability and Quality	165
Charles Lewis Taylor
Chapter Seventeen
An Example of Data Use: Mail Flows in the European Balance of Power, 1890–1920	169
Richard L. Merritt and Caleb M. Clark
Part IV
Toward More Comprehensive Models	207
Chapter Eighteen
Two Kinds of Complexity: Within Numerical Integration and beyond It	209
Bruno Fritsch
Chapter Nineteen
When National Security Policies Bred Collective Insecurity: The War of the Pacific in A World Politics Simulation	215
James P. Bennett and Hayward R. Alker, Jr.
Introduction	215
Conceptualization of Actors, Goals, and the Structure of the World System	219
Measuring Structural Characteristics, Their Components, Changes, Value-Relevant Consequences	222
Explanatory Mechanisms	230

Alternative Pasts and a Program of Diagnostic and Normative Analysis	267
Bibliography	295
Case Study Bibliography	299
Chapter Twenty
Machiavelli in Machina: Or Politics among Hexagons	303
Stuart A. Bremer and Michael Mihalka
Introduction	303
The Multistate System	306
Decision-Making Rules	309
A Typical Run	317
Some Tentative Generalizations	324
A Preliminary Experiment	332
Directions for Future Research	334
References	336
Chapter Twenty-one
Societal Development as the Quintessence of World Development	339
P.N. Rastogi
The Dynamics of Societal Systems: A Brief Overview of Theory and Methodology	341
System Simulation and Viability	344
Themes of Inference and Validation	347
The Course of Four Societal Systems	349
The Problem of Prediction in Societal Systems	358
A Performance Panel for Societal Systems	362
The Concept of Societal Development	362
Societal Development and Ecological Factors	369
The Quality of Societal Life	371
Societal Models as the Base of Regional and World Models	371
Societal Development and World Development	374
Bibliography	375
Chapter Twenty-two
Information Systems for World Models	379
Manfred Kochen
Introduction	379
Desiderata for an Information System to Improve Learning in the Model-Building Community	381
A Suggested Information System	387

Retrospect and Prospect	393
Conclusion	397
Bibliography	398
Conclusion
Some Suggestions and Prospects	401
Chapter Twenty-three
World Order and the Problems of Values, Identities, and Community Formation	403
Saul Mendlovitz
Chapter Twenty-four
Four Major Areas of Concern	411
Candido Mendes
Index	413
About the Editors and Contributors	421