

CONTENTS

List of contributors	vii
Introduction	xi

PART I: BIBLIOGRAPHY/THEORY OF EDITING

1 Shakespeares various A.R. Braunmuller	3
2 The continuing importance of New Bibliography Giorgio Melchiori	17
3 Correct impressions: editing and evidence in the wake of post-modernism Anthony B. Dawson	31
4 Early play texts: forms and formes H.R. Woudhuysen	48

PART II: EDITING AND FEMINISM

5 'To foster is not always to preserve': feminist inflections in editing Pericles Suzanne Gossett	65
6 Editing Desdemona Lois Potter	81
7 Who is performing 'in' these text(s)?; or, Shrew -ing around Barbara Hodgdon	95

PART III: EDITING AND STAGE PRACTICE

8 To edit? To direct? – Ay, there's the rub George Walton Williams	111
--	-----

