Introduction	3
Part I. Multilevel Theory	9
Chapter 1. On Finding Your Level	11
Stanley M. Gully and Jean M. Phillips
Chapter 2. Contextualizing Context in Organizational Research	39
Cheri Ostroff
Chapter 3. Ask Not What the Study of Context Can Do for You: Ask What You Can Do for the Study of Context	67
Rustin D. Meyer, Katie England, Elnora D. Kelly, Andrew Helbling, MinShuou Li, and Donna Outten
Chapter 4. The Only Constant Is Change: Expanding Theory by Incorporating Dynamic Properties Into One's Models	89
Matthew A. Cronin and Jeffrey B. Vancouver
Chapter 5. The Means Are the End: Complexity Science in Organizational Research	115
Juliet R. Aiken, Paul J. Hanges, and Tiancheng Chen
Chapter 6. The Missing Levels of Microfoundations: A Call for Bottom-Up Theory and Methods	141
Robert E. Ployhart and Jonathan L. Hendricks
Chapter 7. Multilevel Emergence in Work Collectives	163
John E. Mathieu and Margaret M. Luciano
Chapter 8. Multilevel Thoughts on Social Networks	187
Daniel J. Brass and Stephen P. Borgatti
Chapter 9. Conceptual Foundations of Multilevel Social Networks	201
Srikanth Paruchuri, Martin C. Goossen, and Corey Phelps
Part II. Multilevel Measurement and Design	223
Chapter 10. Introduction to Data Collection in Multilevel Research	225
Le Zhou, Yifan Song, Valeria Alterman, Yihao Liu, and Mo Wang
Chapter 11. Construct Validation in Multilevel Studies	253
Andrew T. Jebb, Louis Tay, Vincent Ng, and Sang Woo

Chapter 12. Multilevel Measurement: Agreement, Reliability, and Nonindependence	279
Dina V. Krasikova and James M. LeBreton
Chapter 13. Looking Within: An Examination, Combination, and Extension of Within-Person Methods Across Multiple Levels of Analysis	305
Daniel J. Beal and Allison S. Gabriel
Chapter 14. Power Analysis for Multilevel Research	329
Charles A. Scherbaum and Erik Pesner
Chapter 15. Explained Variance Measures for Multilevel Models	353
David M. LaHuis, Caitlin E. Blackmore, and Kinsey B. Bryant-Lees
Chapter 16. Missing Data in Multilevel Research	365
Simon Grund, Oliver Lüdtke, and Alexander Robitzsch
Part III. Multilevel Analysis	387
Chapter 17. A Primer on Multilevel (Random Coefficient) Regression Modeling . . .	389
Levi K. Shiverdecker and James M. LeBreton
Chapter 18. Dyadic Data Analysis	423
Andrew P. Knight and Stephen E. Humphrey
Chapter 19. A Primer on Multilevel Structural Modeling: User-Friendly Guidelines . . .	449
Robert J. Vandenberg and Hettie A. Richardson
Chapter 20. Moderated Mediation in Multilevel Structural Equation Models: Decomposing Effects of Race on Math Achievement Within Versus Between High Schools in the United States	473
Michael J. Zyphur, Zhen Zhang, Kristopher J. Preacher, and Laura J. Bird
Chapter 21. Anything but Normal: The Challenges, Solutions, and Practical Considerations of Analyzing Nonnormal Multilevel Data	495
Miles A. Zachary, Curt B. Moore, and Gary A. Ballinger
Chapter 22. A Temporal Perspective on Emergence: Using Three-Level Mixed-Effects Models to Track Consensus Emergence in Groups	519
Jonas W. B. Lang and Paul D. Bliese
Chapter 23. Social Network Effects: Computational Modeling of Network Contagion and Climate Emergence	541
Daniel A. Newman and Wei Wang
Part IV. Reflections on Multilevel Research	561
Chapter 24. Cross-Level Models	563
Francis J. Yammarino and Janaki Gooty
Chapter 25. Panel Interview: Reflections on Multilevel Theory, Measurement, and Analysis	587
Michael E. Hoffman, David Chan, Gilad Chen, Fred Dansereau, Denise Rousseau, and Benjamin Schneider
