

Contents

PART ONE: SOME SOCIOLOGICAL APPROACHES TO DICKENS'S NOVELS	1
1 The Inadequacy of the Documentary Method	3
2 The Nature of Dickens's Realism	14
3 Dickens as a Bourgeois Writer	38
PART TWO: THE MATURE NOVELS	55
4 Bleak House and the 'Springing of a Mine'	57
5 Little Dorrit – Alienation and the Market	85
6 A Tale of Two Cities – Revolutionary Madness and Moral Rebirth	115
7 Great Expectations – Tainted Respectability and True Gentility	127
8 Our Mutual Friend – The Dust-Mounds and the Principle of Speculation	143
9 Conclusion	166
Notes	168
Select Bibliography	172
Index	177