

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface (p ix)

Abbreviations (p xii)

Errata (p xiv)

INTRODUCTION (p 1)

Bibliographies (p 1); Journals (p 1); Biographies (p 2);
Letters (p 5); Selections etc (p 7)

GENERAL CRITICISM: NINETEENTH CENTURY (p 9)

Period 1836-1839 (p 9); The Eighteen-Forties (p 10);
The Eighteen-Fifties (p 12); The Eighteen-Sixties (p 13);
The Eighteen-Seventies (p 15); The Eighteen-Eighties (p 16);
The Eighteen-Nineties (p 17)

GENERAL CRITICISM: TWENTIETH CENTURY (p 19)

Decade 1900-1909 (p 19); Decade 1910-1919 (p 21);
The Nineteen-Twenties (p 23); The Nineteen-Thirties (p 25);
The Nineteen-Forties (p 27); The Nineteen-Fifties (p 29);
The Nineteen-Sixties (p 33); Period 1970-1974 (p 35)

CRITICISM OF PARTICULAR WORKS (p 38)

Sketches by Boz (p 38); Sunday Under Three Heads (p 40);
The Pickwick Papers (p 41); Oliver Twist (p 45); Nicholas
Nickleby (p 49); Master Humphrey's Clock (p 51); The Old
Curiosity Shop (p 53); Barnaby Rudge (p 57); American
Notes (p 58); Martin Chuzzlewit (p 61); Christmas Books

TABLE OF CONTENTS, cont.

(p 65); A Christmas Carol (p 66); The Chimes (p 68);
The Cricket on the Hearth (p 70); The Battle of Life
(p 71); The Haunted Man (p 72); Pictures from Italy
(p 73); Dombey and Son (p 74); David Copperfield (p 79);
Household Words (p 84); Christmas Stories (p 85); A Child's History of England (p 86); Bleak House (p 87); Hard Times
(p 93); Little Dorrit (p 99); All the Year Round (p 104);
A Tale of Two Cities (p 105); Great Expectations (p 108);
The Uncommercial Traveller (p 113); Our Mutual Friend
(p 114); George Silverman's Explanation (p 117); Edwin
Drood (p 117); Minor Works (p 122)

ASPECTS OF DICKENS (p 123)

His Popularity (p 123); His Originality (p 124); His Reading Public (p 125); Dickens's England (p 127);
Dickens's London (p 129); Dickens in America (p 132);
Dickens in France (p 135); Dickens in Germany (p 138);
Dickens in Italy (p 140); Dickens in Russia (p 141);
The Serial Novelist (p 144); Dickens and his Illustrators
(p 147); The Literary Artist (p 150); The Moral Artist
(p 157); His Development (p 159); His Style and Language
(p 163); His Symbolism (p 168); His Characters (p 170);
Fantasy and the Grotesque (p 178); Comedy and Satire
(p 179); Sentiment and Sentimentality (p 183); Drama and Melodrama (p 187); Stage and Platform (p 189); Dickens
the Journalist (p 193); Radical and Reformer (p 195);

TABLE OF CONTENTS, cont.

Dickens and Childhood (p 204); Dickens and Education (p 208); Dickens and the Universities (p 210); Dickens and Religion (p 211); Dickens and Christmas (p 215); Dickens and Sport (p 216); Dickens and the Stage-Coach (p 218); Dickens and the Railway Age (p 219); Dickens and Crime (p 220); Sex in Dickens (p 223); Dickens and Ellen Ternan (p 227)

CRITICAL COMPARISONS (p 229)

Dickens and Aristophanes (p 229); and Dante (p 229); Langland (229); Chaucer (229); Cervantes (230); Marlowe (231); Dickens and Shakespeare (p 231); and Ben Jonson (p 234); Webster (235); Molière (235); Bunyan (235); Defoe (235); Swift (236); Richardson (236); Hogarth (237); Fielding (237); Sterne (239); Smollett (240); Goldsmith (241); Blake (241); Cobbett (242); Wordsworth (242); Scott (243); Jane Austen (244); Washington Irving (245); Leigh Hunt (245); Carlyle (245); Thomas Hood (247); Balzac (247); Victor Hugo (248); Bulwer Lytton (249); Disraeli (250); Edgar Allan Poe (250); Gogol (251); Mrs Gaskell (251); Dickens and Thackeray (p 252); and Henry Mayhew (p 256); Charles Reade (257); Trollope (257); the Brontës (p 258); George Eliot (259); Whitman (260); Melville (261); Dostoevsky (261); Flaubert (264); Wilkie Collins (265); Tolstoy (267); Meredith (269); Samuel

TABLE OF CONTENTS, cont.

Butler (269); Dickens and Mark Twain (p 270); and Zola (270); Daudet (270); Hardy (271); Henry James (271); Bernard Shaw (273); George Gissing (273); Conrad (274); H.G.Wells (275); Proust (276); G.K.Chesterton (276); James Joyce (277); Kafka (278); D.H.Lawrence (278); Sinclair Lewis (279); Dickens and George Orwell (279)

INDEX (p 280)