

Contents

Acknowledgements	vi
Preface	vii
Acronyms	viii
1. Introduction	1
I. Background	1
II. European security after the cold war	5
III. Nationalism and ethnicity: conceptual perspectives	10
2. Nationalism and ethnic conflict in Central Europe	15
I. Introduction	15
II. The Hungarian minorities	21
III. The Czech Republic and Slovakia	25
IV. Conclusion	32
3. Nationalism and ethnic conflict in the Balkan states	34
I. Introduction	34
II. Yugoslavia	37
III. Macedonia	56
IV. Serbia	61
V. Conclusion	63
4. Nationalism and ethnic conflict in Eastern Europe and Central Asia	65
I. Introduction	65
II. Russia and Ukraine	71
III. Central Asia and the Caucasus	74
IV. Moldova	81
V. Conclusion	85
5. The response: the principal powers and the European security institutions	88
I. Introduction	88
II. 'Square pegs into round holes': the security institutions	90
III. Peace-keeping and peace-making	108
IV. Conclusion	120
6. Conclusion	123
Index	130
Maps
1. The former Yugoslavia	39
2. The newly independent states of Central Asia	75
3. The Caucasus	75
4. Moldova	82