

Contents

Series Editors' Preface	ix
List of Illustrations	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction: The Voices of War	1
Voices of the wireless revolution	7
Voices of contradiction	18
Voices of the radio war	22
1 War on the Air	31
Radio's fascism and the violence of the voice	35
It's the end of the world as we know it	45
2 Militarizing the Messiah	55
I heard the voice of Jesus say	60
A Christ for World War II	66
3 Transatlantic Crossings	75
MacNeice crosses the Atlantic	78
Propaganda, poetry, and the radio	82
Conquering the new world	86
4 Propaganda, Literature, and New Networks	97
Orwell's ambivalence	100
London calling	105
Orwell loses his radio voice	113
5 Clogged Communication	121
A hopeful transmission	124
Can't get through to you	131
Please Mr. Postman	138

6	Haunted Network	145
	Modernist hauntings	150
	Mann's ghosts	154
	Extending the network	165
	Epilogue: A Voice from the Other Side	171
	Notes	181
	Bibliography	231
	Index	243