

Contents

---

PREFACE .. .. .	Lord Harris of High Cross	5
THE AUTHOR .. .. .		7
I MOBILISING HUMANITY FOR PROGRESS .. ..		9
The awakening .. .. .		9
Principles of economic organisation .. ..		10
The wide gap between promise and performance		12
Living standards vary with economic liberty ..		13
Selflessness cannot (yet) replace incentive or coercion .. .. .		14
Tolerant markets; intolerant statism .. ..		16
The elusive alternative: three flaws of statism ..		16
The choice .. .. .		18
II MARKET SUCCESS: CURABLE DEFECTS .. ..		19
Early industrialism and poverty .. .. .		19
A new/old realism: the economics of politics ..		20
Remediable imperfections .. .. .		22
(i) Differences in incomes .. .. .		22
The emancipation of the market .. ..		24
(ii) Monopoly .. .. .		25
(iii) Alienation .. .. .		26
The sacrosanctity of state monopoly ..		27
(iv) Externalities .. .. .		28
Emulation and self-interest: the motive force of enterprise .. .. .		30

III	GOVERNMENT FAILURE: INCURABLE DEFECTS	..	31
	The large claims for state economy on paper	..	32
	The defects of state economy in practice	..	33
	(i) Ignorance	.. .. .	33
	(ii) Inefficiency	.. .. .	34
	(iii) Social conflict	.. .. .	35
	(iv) Monopoly	.. .. .	37
	(v) Coercion	.. .. .	37
	(vi) Corruption	.. .. .	38
	(vii) Secrecy	.. .. .	39
	The catalogue of 'government failure'	.. ..	40
IV	THE REIGNING ERROR: STATE HOLISM v. MARKET EXPERIMENTATION	.. .. .	41
	Self-delusion	.. .. .	42
	State monolith or market diversity	.. ..	42
V	REVERSING THE TIDE	.. .. .	44
	Intellectual reaction	.. .. .	45
	The two nations: private affluence, public squalor		46
	1. Education	.. .. .	46
	2. Removal of poverty	.. .. .	48
	3. Pruning the public sector	.. .. .	48
	4. Competition in the private sector	.. ..	50
	5. New entrepreneurs	.. .. .	50
VI	FINALE: SUMMARY AND POLICY	.. .. .	51
A	SHORT READING LIST	.. .. .	54
SELECTED	WRITINGS BY ARTHUR SELDON	.. .. .	56