

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Note on Geographical Nomenclature	xi
Introduction	1
 PART I. THE RAIDERS
1. Viking Raids and Frankish Rivalries	15
2. Bretons and Vikings: The Beginnings of Western Settlement	27
3. The Norse of the Seine	34
 PART II. THE SETTLERS: THE BEGINNING OF COHESION
4. The Northmen's Myth: Dudo of St Quentin	61
5. The Boundaries of the Early Rouen Chieftainship	68
6. Attack and Stabilization: Richard the Fearless, 942–966	79
 PART III. KINSHIP BY CHOICE
7. Succession and Family Limitation, 911–966	93
8. The Web of Allies	98
9. Count Rodulf (ca. 945–1015)	108

PART IV. THE HOUSE OF THE RICHARDS, 966–1035

- | | |
|---|-----|
| 10. Resources of the Dukes in the Early Eleventh Century: Rights, Lands, Allies | 121 |
| 11. Acknowledged Ducal Children | 131 |
| 12. Succession: Practice and Practicability | 143 |
| 13. Duke Robert (1027–1035) | 149 |

PART V. PREDATORY KINSHIP

- | | |
|--------------------------------|-----|
| 14. Evidence and Model | 159 |
| 15. The “Anarchy” of the 1030s | 179 |

PART VI. THE DUKE AS KINSMAN

- | | |
|---|-----|
| 16. Bringing Up the Boys | 193 |
| 17. The Beginning of Winning: The Challenge of Cousin Guy | 199 |
| 18. Winning and Wedding: Roger II and William II | 205 |
| 19. The Uncles | 213 |
| 20. The West and the Bishops | 222 |
| 21. The Predatory Community | 230 |

PART VII. CONCLUSION

- | | |
|--|-----|
| 22. The Predatory Community: Power, Ideology, and Legacy | 237 |
|--|-----|

Genealogical Tables

- | | |
|---|-----|
| 1. The Family of Richard I and Gunnor | 252 |
| 2. The Illegitimate Family of Richard I | 254 |
| 3. The Family of Richard II and Judith | 256 |
| 4. The Descendants of Count Rodulf | 258 |
| 5. Some Lineages Linked by Descent from the Parents of the Duchess Gunnor | 260 |

6. The Family of Archbishop Robert	262
7. The Descent of the English Royal House in the Eleventh Century	264
Abbreviations	265
Notes	269
Works Cited	325
Index	337