

CONTENTS

Introduction	7
1 'Mistero buffo' – popular culture, the giullari and the grotesque	10
Recovering 'illegitimate' forms of theatre – the giullari
Language as burlesque – Grammelot
Addressing the audience – prologues, interludes and asides
The texts in performance
The TV performances
Zanni's Grammelot
The Massacre of the Innocents
The Morality of the Blind Man and the Cripple
The Wedding Feast of Canaan
The Origin of the Giullare
The Origin of the Underling
The Resurrection of Lazarus
Boniface VIII
Texts from the Passion
Mao Tse-tung and a Chinese Mistero buffo
The 'other stories'
The Obscene Fables
2 Biography and output 1951–1967	34
Early influences
Radio origins
Revue and avanspettacolo
Musical activities and the cinema
The early farces
The 'bourgeois period'
The television fiasco
Historical drama in an epic context
Graveyard humour and witchcraft
Popular music, an adaptation and circus satire
3 Theatre in the service of class struggle 1968–1973	53
Nuova Scena: a new theatre for a new audience
La Comune and Accidental Death of an Anarchist
Political documentaries
The 'roadshows' and Fo's arrest
4 Political theatre on shifting ground 1974–1983	71
The Palazzina Liberty and Can't Pay? Won't Pay!
Political pamphlets
Return to TV and Female Parts
Confronting terrorism and About Face
Adapting Brecht

5 Fo in the UK	95
Adapting Fo – We Can't Pay? We Won't Pay!
Adapting Fo II – Accidental Death of an Anarchist
The marketing of Fo in the UK
Adapting Fo III – Female Parts
Mistero buffo in London
6 At home and abroad 1984–1985	110
Teaching praxis
Accidental Death of an Anarchist on Broadway
Adapting Fo IV – Trumpets and Raspberries
Fo and Shakespeare, Rame and Elisabetta
Notes	128
Selected Bibliography	133