

Contents

Introduction	1
1. Concepts of Empire and Visions of World Politics	6
Primacy and Diversity	6
Definitions	8
The Interests of the British	12
The Relationships with Other States	15
Collaborators	16
Concluding Remarks	21
2. South-East Asia in the Period of British Primacy	25
The Dutch and the Archipelago	26
Philippinas	32
The Malay Peninsula and Borneo	35
Siam	43
Burma	47
The Andaman and Nicobar Islands	52
Vietnam	53
Concluding Remarks	55
3. The 'New Imperialism' and South-East Asia	59
South-East Asia and the Trends in British Policy	60
The Spread of Industrialization	61
Imperialism	62
Tariffs and Preferences	65
The Empire	68
The End of the Konbaung Dynasty	70
British Residents in Malaya	71
British Borneo	75
French Indo-China	76
Siam	78
From Sabang to Merauke	81
The End of the Spanish Empire	83
Concluding Remarks	86

4 The Impact of the First World War and the Depression	89
The Threats to Colonial South-East Asia	89
The First World War	93
South-East Asia in the War	99
The Post-war Settlement	101
British Malaya and Borneo in the 1920s	106
Netherlands India, the Philippines, and French Indo-China in the 1920s	108
The Depression and the Manchurian Incident	110
The Extension of the East Asian Conflict	112
South-East Asia in the 1930s	113
The Commonwealth of the Philippines	114
Thailand and French Indo-China	118
Japan and Netherlands India	119
Clementi in Malaya and Borneo	122
The Burma Constitution	125
Concluding Remarks	126
5 The Second World War: Plans and Potential Partners	130
The Future of South-East Asia	130
The Impact of the War of 1939	134
The Fall of Singapore	140
The Japanese Empire	141
Allied Propaganda	150
Plans for the Future: American, French, and Dutch	152
British Planning	156
The Burma White Paper	159
Malayan Union	163
Borneo Colonies	165
Thailand	166
Concluding Remarks	166
6 Decolonization and Independence	170
The Other Colonial Powers	171
The Adjustment of Britain's Policies	174
Communism and the United States	177
Independent India	181
The Emergence of Independent States in South-East Asia	183
The Union of Burma	188

CONTENTS

ix

Indonesia and Indo-China	191
Post-war Thailand	195
Malaya and Malaysia	197
Concluding Remarks	204
Bibliography	210
Index	223