

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Abbreviations	ix
General Introduction	xi
Part One: Hermeneutics
1. Introduction: The Hermeneutics of Ambiguity Shaun Gallagher	3
2. Context and Perspective Gail Weiss	13
3. Perception, Finitude, and Transgression: A Note on Merleau-Ponty and Ricoeur Thomas W. Busch	25
4. Perceiving/Reading the Other: Ethical Dimensions Michael Yeo	37
5. Merleau-Ponty and the “Backward Flow” of Time: The Reversibility of Temporality and the Temporality of Reversibility Glen A. Mazis	53
6. Language and Imperfect Consensus: Merleau-Ponty’s Contribution to the Habermas-Gadamer Debate Shaun Gallagher	69
7. Did Merleau-Ponty Have a Theory of Perception? G. B. Madison	83

Part Two: Postmodernism

8. Introduction: ". . . Being . . . which is Staggered Out in Depth . . ." Thomas W. Busch	109
9. Between Phenomenology and (Post)Structuralism: Rereading Merleau-Ponty G. B. Madison	117
10. Merleau-Ponty and Postmodernism M. C. Dillon	129
11. Between Merleau-Ponty and Postmodernism Hugh J. Silverman	139
12. Phantasmic Genealogy Derek Taylor	149
13. Toward a Phenomenology of Politics: Expression and Praxis Eleanor Godway	161
14. The Politics of Contingency: The Contingency of Politics—On the Political Implications of Merleau-Ponty's Ontology of the Flesh Geraldine Finn	171
15. Temporality: Merleau-Ponty and Derrida M. C. Dillon	189
16. Two Reversibilities: Merleau-Ponty and Derrida Mark Yount	213
17. Phantom Equator Alphonso Lingis	227
18. Merleau-Ponty and Postmodernism Joseph Margolis	241
Contributors	257
Name Index	261