

Contents

List of Tables	ix
List of Figures	xi
Preface	xiii
Executive Summary	xv
A Note on Terminology	xxiv
Acknowledgements	xxv
Introduction	1
Part 1 Preliminaries
1 History	7
1.1 Western Europe's Post-war Trade Arrangements	7
2 Theory	17
2.1 How Trade Arrangements Can Differ	18
2.2 Allocation Efficiency Effects	24
2.3 Location Effects	42
2.4 Accumulation (Growth) Effects	50
2.5 Political Economy Effects	68
3 Potential Trade Patterns	80
3.1 The Gravity Model	81
3.2 The Results: Projecting Europe's Trade Potential	88
3.3 Review of Previous Studies	102
Appendix 3.1: Projected Trade Matrices	111
Appendix 3.2: The Collins–Rodrik Methodology	115

Part 2 The Problem

4	The Current System	123
4.1	Description	123
5	Hub-and-spoke Bilateralism	130
5.1	Economic Effects	130
5.2	Political Economy of Hub-and-spoke Bilateralism	137
6	No Intermediate Steps	140
6.1	Three Uneven Steps to EU Membership	140
6.2	Historical Widening and Deepening of the EU	142
6.3	A Long Wait on the Association Agreement Step	150

Part 3 Some Solutions

7	EU Enlargement	155
7.1	The Benefits of an Eastern EU Enlargement	157
7.2	Difficulties of an Eastern EU Enlargement	161
8	Early Enlargement on the Cheap	196
8.1	Exclusions and Transition Periods	197
8.2	Political Unpleasantness	201
9	A Proposal	206
9.1	Stage One	207
9.2	Stage Two: Creating an Intermediate Step	215
9.3	Conclusions	223

References	225
Index	229