

Contents

Preface	xv
1. Introduction	1
Pros and Cons of Increased Economic Integration	2
Outline of the Book	3
Characteristics of Labor Markets	5
Unemployment Insurance: An Example	6
Flexible Exchange Rates, Tax Incidence, and Economic Integration	10
Appendix: The European Community and the Labor Market	12
2. Hours of Work and the Statutes That Govern Them	14
Hours of Work	14
Statutes That Influence Hours of Work	16
Likelihood of the Convergence of Hours of Work and the Statutes Governing Them	20
3. Social and Private Insurance	24
Retirement Systems	26
Medical Care	33
4. Employment Standards	39
Minimum Wages	41
Compulsory Schooling and Child Labor Laws	47
Occupational Safety and Health Standards	49

5. Policies to Facilitate Labor Market Adjustments	54
Advance Notice of and Severance Pay for Job Displacement	54
Policies That Partially Compensate for Job Loss	61
Training and Job Placement Programs	65
6. Who Can Work and How Working Conditions Are Established	70
Immigration Policies	70
Occupational Qualifications	80
Collective Bargaining and Worker Participation	83
7. Looking to the Future	88
Lessons from the U.S. Experience	89
Efficiency, Equity, and Political Considerations	92
Compliance	96
Comments	101
Stephen Nickell	101
Richard B. Freeman	107
References	111
Index	121
Tables
2-1. Average Hours Worked per Person per Year and Part-Time Employment as a Percent of Total Employment, Selected OECD Nations, 1970, 1979, 1990	15
2-2. Average Weekly Hours Usually Worked in EC Nations in 1991	16
2-3. Statutory Regulation of Holidays, Vacation, and Weekly Hours in EC Nations in 1991	17
2-4. Sick Leave in EC Nations	18
2-5. Maternity and Parental Leave Mandated by Government Legislation in 1990, Selected OECD Nations	19
2-6. Percent of Full-Time Employees Who Usually Worked Forty-six or More Hours per Week in 1991, EC Nations	21
3-1. Financing of Social Insurance Programs in EC Nations, July 1, 1988	25

3-2. Social Insurance Expenditures and Other Labor Taxes as a Percent of Hourly Compensation Costs of Production Workers in Manufacturing, Selected Countries, 1989	26
3-3. Annual Earnings Ceilings after Which No Additional Employer Payroll Tax Payments for Old-Age and Survivors Benefits Were Required, Selected EC Nations, 1988	27
3-4. Income Replacement Rates in Compulsory Pension Plans in Six EC Nations, 1991	28
3-5. Minimum Period of Membership Required to Receive Retirement Benefits under EC Nations' Social Security Programs, 1988	29
3-6. Health Expenditures and Health Outcomes in EC Nations and the United States	33
3-7. Health Care Coverage under EC Nations' Social Security Systems, 1988	36
3-8. Long-Term Unemployment as a Percent of Total Unemployment in the United States and EC Nations for Men and Women Aged 25-54, 1989	38
4-1. Minimum Wages in Selected Countries, October 1992	41
4-2. Compulsory Schooling Ages and Minimum Ages for Employment in Selected Countries, 1990	48
5-1. Requirements for Advance Notice and Severance Pay for Collective Dismissals in European Legislation, 1989	56
5-2. Coverage of Part-Time Employees under Social Insurance and Dismissal Statutes, Selected European Nations, 1990	58
5-3. The Use of Nonstandard Forms of Employment, Selected OECD Nations, 1989, 1990	59
5-4. Selected Characteristics of Unemployment Insurance and Assistance Systems, Selected OECD Nations, January 1989	62
5-5. Public Expenditures on Labor Market Programs as a Percent of Gross Domestic Product, Selected OECD Nations, 1989-91	67
5-6. Unemployed Persons per Staff Member in Public Employment Services, Selected OECD Nations, 1988	68
6-1. European Community Citizens Living in Another Member State	75
6-2. Percent of Total Population That Changed Region of Residence in 1987, United States and the Four Largest EC Nations	77
6-3. Indexes of Hourly Compensation Costs for Production Workers in EC Nations, 1975, 1989	78
6-4. Foreign Employees in EC Nations, 1987	79

6-5. Average Percent of Test Takers That Passed the State Bar Examination, and State Reciprocity Arrangements, 1991	82
6-6. Bargaining Structure and Union Membership in EC Nations	84
6-7. Workers' Rights to Information, Consultation, and Participation in Management in EC Nations, 1991	86

Figures

1-1. Who Bears the Burden of a Payroll Tax?	7
3-1. Increases in a Nation's Labor Cost Due to Inefficient Provision of Medical Care	35