

Contents

Preface
Philippe C. Schmitter and Wolfgang Streeck	vii
1 Introduction
Varieties of corporatism: the importance of the meso-level of interest intermediation
Alan Cawson	1
2 Corporatism and industrial policy
Michael M. Atkinson and William D. Coleman	22
3 Industrial training in Britain: the dilemmas of a neo-corporatist policy
Sarah Vickerstaff	45
4 Corporatist incomes policies, the free-rider problem and the British labour government's social contract
Jonathan Boston	65
5 Corporatism and Thatcherism: is there life after death?
Kevin Bonnett	85
6 State corporatism as a sectoral phenomenon: the case of the Quebec construction industry
William D. Coleman	106
7 Neo-corporatist strategies in the British energy sector
Noelle Burgi	125
8 Large firms and the representation of business interests in the UK and West German construction industry
Wyn Grant and Wolfgang Streeck	145
9 Corporatist and pluralist patterns of policy-making for chemicals control: a comparison between West Germany and the USA
Volker Schneider	174

10	Organized interests and industrial crisis management: restructuring the steel industry in West Germany, Italy and France Martin Rhodes	192
11	Conclusion: some implications for state theory Alan Cawson	221
	References	227
	Index	243
	Notes on contributors	258