

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Notes on the Contributors	viii
1 Introduction: Horror the Soul of the Plot Brian Docherty	1
2 A Darkness Visible: the Case of Charles Brockden Brown A. Robert Lee	13
③ Poe: Rituals of Life and Death Robert Giddings	33
4 This Revolting Graveyard of the Universe: the Horror Fiction of H. P. Lovecraft Clive Bloom	59
5 The Evidence of Things Seen and Unseen: William Faulkner's Sanctuary David Seed	73
6 Robert Bloch's Psycho : Some Pathological Contexts David Punter	92
7 A Feminist Approach to Patricia Highsmith's Fiction Odette L'Henry Evans	107
8 Shirley Jackson and the Reproduction of Mothering: The Haunting of Hill House Judie Newman	120
9 Stephen King: Powers of Horror Clare Hanson	135

10	De-fanging the Vampire: S. M. Charnas's The Vampire Tapestry as Subversive Horror Fiction Anne Cranny-Francis	155
	Select Bibliography	176
	Index	178