

Charity in Rabbinic Judaism

Atonement, Rewards, and Righteousness

Alyssa M. Gray

Contents

Acknowledgments and credit	viii
Abbreviations and a note about editions	x
1 Introduction: rabbis, charity, tzedakah	1
2 God as the true recipient of tzedakah	33
3 Redemptive almsgiving and charity's rewards in the land of Israel	60
4 Redemptive almsgiving and charity's rewards in the Talmud Bavli	92
5 Tzedakah and teshuvah : partially overlapping magisteria	131
6 Charity and beyond: the Talmud Bavli 's limitations on a divine role in human affairs	157
7 Select post-Talmudic developments	174
8 Conclusion: righteous before God	198
Index	208