ENVIRONMENT AND SPECTRUM USE

- 1 'Use of a database in evaluating the UK electromagnetic environment'
L D Elton
BAeSEMA, UK
R S Squire
MoD, UK
- 6 'A study into the potential effects of ISM emissions on cellular radio equipment'
P B Kenington and D W Bennett
University of Bristol, UK
- 12 'Development of the RF HIRF environment'
D A Bull
ERA Technology Ltd, UK

INSTALLATION

- 19 'Calculation of the induced voltages in large buildings'
N Szedenik, C Janiga, A Hunkár and I Fodor
Technical University of Budapest, Hungary
- 23 'Coupling of magnetic fields from power cables to grounding loops'
B W Jaekel and R L J Messer
Siemens AG, Germany

CASE STUDIES I

- 29 'Military use of Commercial off - the - shelf (COTS) equipment : Updated E³ concerns'
D S Dixon
Naval Undersea Warfare Center (NUWC), USA
- 35 'Radio frequency compatibility design and testing on the Polar platform spacecraft'
J A Miller and A R Horne
Matra Marconi Space (Bristol) UK Ltd, UK

Contents

Page No

- 41 'Conducted emission improvement of AC variable speed drives'
M H Nagrial and A Hellany
University of Western Sydney, Australia

CASE STUDIES II

- 47 'In-situ radiated EMI measurements of EDM machines and EMI reduction techniques'
E García and E Zabala
LABEIN, Spain
- 54 'The movement of insects in an electric field'
D B Watson, N P Sedcole, E Chan, K G Smart and S M Patel
University of Canterbury, New Zealand

SCREENING AND SHIELDING

- 59 'Shielding performance of conductive elastomer gaskets'
A J G Swainson
Pilkington Optronics Ltd, UK
- 65 'Modelling of transmission and reflection of thin layers for EMC applications in TLM'
J F Dawson, J A Cole and S J Porter
University of York, UK

STANDARDS

- 71 'The electromagnetic environment. It's relationship to existing harmonised generic standards, and the need to consider it fully to meet the protection requirements of the EMC Directive'
M K Armstrong
Cherry Clough Consultants, UK
- 79 'Introducing national quality of supply (power quality) standards - the South African experience'
P Johnson and R Coney
Eskom, South Africa
- 85 'Product EMC standards and their application to the telecommunications industry'
A Finney
ERA Technology Ltd, UK

MODELLING AND PCBS

- 89 'Estimation of fields radiated by a PCB from close magnetic field measurements'
R Thottappillil and V Scuka
Uppsala University, Sweden
J Eriksson, A Eriksson and P Öhman
Detectus AB, Sweden
- 94 'Effect of logic family on peak radiated emissions from circuit boards'
M P Robinson, J F Dawson, M D Ganley, A C Marvin and S J Porter
University of York, UK
T M Benson, C Christopoulos and D W P Thomas
University of Nottingham, UK
- 100 'Modelling of PCB variations and its impact on microcontroller immunity'
J D Sim and F S Galbraith
University of Paisley, UK
N Davenport
Motorola, UK
- 105 'Desk-top radiated-immunity testing of small assemblies'
R C Marshall
Richard Marshall Ltd, UK

PCB

- 108 'Substrate noise issues in mixed-signal chip designs using SPICE'
R Singh and S Sali
University of Newcastle upon Tyne, UK
- 113 'Transient analysis of printed circuit board structures using a time domain solution of Kirchoff's network equations'
C J Railton and L Z Ma
University of Bristol, UK
- 119 'Application of the FD-TD method to modelling the electromagnetic radiation from heatsinks'
N J Ryan, D A Stone and B Chambers
University of Sheffield, UK
- 125 'A tale of four substrates - EMI and thermal comparisons of different PCB materials'
P Miller
Motorola Automotive and Industrial Electronics Group, UK

CABLES AND CONNECTORS

- 131 'Modelling as a tool for analysing handling effects in structured wire cabling'
M M Al-Asadi and A P Duffy
De Montfort University, UK
A J Wills and K Hodge
BICC Brand-Rex, UK
- 137 'Assessing the performance of a current probe based method for determining surface transfer impedance'
T M Benson and C F Cheng
Nottingham University, UK
A P Duffy
De Montfort University, UK
- 142 'Screening of multi-pin connectors - suggested measuring techniques'
E P Fowler
Park Farm Enterprises, UK

LIGHTNING

- 148 'Taking account of quasistatic effects in models for lightning electromagnetic pulse'
F Lattarulo
Politecnico di Bari, Italy
- 153 'Analysis of lightning-induced voltages in a network of conductors using the ATP-EMTP program'
A Galvan and V Cooray
University of Uppsala, Sweden
- 158 'The peak, rise time and the half-width of lightning generated electric field derivatives over finitely conducting ground'
M Fernando and V Cooray
University of Uppsala, Sweden

TEST METHODS I

- 164 'Simulation of EMC test environments'
V Agyri and C Christopoulos
University of Nottingham, UK
- 170 'Aspects of GTEM to OATS measurement correlation'
A Nothofer and A C Marvin
University of York, UK

Contents

Page No

175 'Reduced measurement uncertainty in the frequency range 500MHz to 1GHz using a calculable standard dipole antenna'
B G Loader, M J Alexander and M J Salter
National Physical Laboratory, UK

181 'A novel application of transmission line theory in EMC assessment'
C M Ting and P A Jennings
University of Warwick, UK

TEST METHODS II

187 'A modelling approach to determining the effective working volume of a mode-stirred chamber'
A J M Williams and A P Duffy
De Montfort University, UK
R A Scaramuzza
KCC Ltd, UK

193 'The use of mode stirred chambers in EM evaluation testing'
D L Herke and G D M Barber
Defence Evaluation Research Agency, UK

199 'The use of Direct Current Injection (DCI) techniques for aircraft clearance'
G D M Barber
Defence Evaluation Research Agency, UK

205 'Prediction and measurement of spacecraft conducted safety margin'
D J Atkins and P Bisognin
Matra Marconi Space, UK
