

Contents<sup>1</sup>

List of Illustrations	viii
Preface	ix
Introduction: Marking Trails in Studies of Race, Gender, and Culture	1
Jacqueline Jones Royster
Part I: Rethinking Race, Whiteness, Gender, and Class
1. The More Things Change . . . Or, Why I Teach Whiteness	17
Valerie Babb
2. Bombs and Bullshit: Interventions in a Very Dangerous Time	33
Renee M. Moreno
3. Transforming Images: The Scholarship of American Indian Women	47
Susan Applegate Krouse
4. Men as Cautious Feminists: Reading, Responding, Role-Modeling as a Man	61
Patrick Bizzaro
5. Guns, Language, and Beer: Hunting for a Working-Class Language in the Academy	75
Ann E. Green
Part II: Refiguring Culture, History, and Methodology
6. Smarts: A Cautionary Tale	93
Valerie Lee

7. Naming and Proclaiming the Self: Black Feminist
Literary History Making 107
Joycebyn Moody
8. Speaking With and To Me: Discursive Positioning and the Unstable Categories of Race, Class, and Gender 121
Jami L. Carlacio
9. Questioning Our Methodological Metaphors 133
Barbara E. L'Plattienier
10. Pretenders on the Throne: Gender, Race, and Authority in the Composition Classroom 147
Amanda Espinosa-Aguilar
11. Veiled Wor(1)ds: The Postcolonial Feminist and the Question of Where 159
Akhila Ramnarayan
12. The Paradigm of Margaret Cavendish: Reading Women's Alternative Rhetorics in a Global Context 171
Hui Wu
13. "Making this Country Great": Native American Educational Sovereignty in North Carolina 187
Resa Crane Bizzaro

Part III: (Re)Forming Analytical Paradigms

14. Say What?: Rediscovering Hugh Blair and the Racialization
of Language, Culture, and Pedagogy in Eighteenth-Century
Rhetoric 203
David G. Holmes
15. "By the Way, Where Did You Learn to Speak?": Black
Sites of Rhetorical Education 215
Shirley Wilson Logan
16. Rhetorical Tradition(s) and the Reform Writing of Mary Ann Shadd Cary 229
Ann Marie Mann Simpkins

17. Toni Morrison and “Race Matters” Rhetoric: Reading Race and Whiteness in Visual Culture Joyce Irene Middleton	243
Last Words	255
Works Cited	265
List of Contributors	287
Index	293