

CONTENTS

Introduction	vii
Retrying The Stranger Again Mary Ann Frese Witt and Eric Witt	1
The Silent Voices of the Law Susan Ayres	21
Law and Order: Exploring the British Legal System in David Hare's Murmuring Judges Karen C. Blansfield	37
Criminal Apprehensions: Prague Minorities and The Habsburg Legal System in Jaroslav Hašek's The Good Soldier Švejk and Franz Kafka's The Trial Jenifer Cushman	51
Silence in the Courtroom: Language, Literature, and Law in The Ballad of Frankie Silver Gwen McNeill Ashburn	67
Representing Lawyers: Edith Wharton's Portrayal of Lawyers and Lawyering In The Touchstone and Summer Deborah Hecht	83
Ritual Murder and the Corruption of Law in Bernard Malamud's The Fixer Eric Sterling	99
"How Shall We Change the Law?": Birth Control Rhetoric and the Modern American Narrative Beth Widmaier Capo	119

Putting God on Trial: The Relationship of Kafka to Leibniz Joseph Suglia	145
Mumia Abu-Jamal's Live from Death Row as Post-Legal Prison Writing Brian Conniff	159
The Letter of the Law and Canadian Letters: Joy Kogawa's Obasan Ana María Frailé-Marcos	173
Prior Claims and Sovereign Rights: The Sexual Contract in Edith Wharton's Summer Alicia Renfroe	193
Situating Atticus in the Zone: A Lawyer and His Daughter Read Harper Lee's To Kill a Mockingbird Nancy Lawson Remler and Hugh Lawson	207
Challenging the Court: Charles Chesnut's Marrow of Tradition Gwen Mathewson	219
About the Authors	241