

Contents

List of Plates	vii
Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xvii
1. The Problem of The Confidence-Man: His Masquerade	1
2. Melville's Political World, 1819–1860, and His Early Satire on It	11
3. Melville's "Graphic" Methods	30
4. The First Two Confidence Men (the Deaf-Mute and Black Guinea) and Two Antagonists (the Barber and the Drover)	39
5. Several Antagonists (the Wooden-Legged Man, the Episcopal Clergyman, the Methodist Minister, and the Country Merchant)	59
6. The Third Confidence Man (John Ringman the Man with the Weed) and His Antagonist (the Collegian)	76
7. The Fourth and Fifth Confidence Men (the Man in Gray and John Truman) and Several Antagonists (the Gentleman with Gold Sleeve-Buttons, the Charitable Lady, the Elderly Quaker, the Dried-Up Man, and Others)	94
8. The Sixth Confidence Man (the Herb-Doctor) and Two Antagonists (the Miser and the Sick Man)	122
9. The Seventh Confidence Man (the PIO Man) and Three Formidable Antagonists (the Invalid Titan, the Soldier of Fortune Thomas Fry, and Pitch the Missouri Bachelor)	145
10. The Eighth and Last Confidence Man (Frank Goodman the Cosmopolitan) and His Antagonist (Charles Arnold Noble)	172

Contents

11. Two Antagonists (Mark Winsome and Egbert the Disciple) and Their Antagonist (the Crazy Beggar)	200
12. The Cosmopolitan and His Final Antagonists (the Barber, the Clean Comely Old Man, the Juvenile Peddler, and the Irish Voice)	221
13. The Political Commedia	242
14. The Political Argument	250
Notes	263
Selected Bibliography	307
Index of References to Prints	323
Index	327