

Contents

Acknowledgements	viii
Introduction	i
1 Sensational Invasions: The Jesuit, the State and the Family Charles Kingsley's Westward Ho! and Wilkie Collins's The Black Robe	28
2 Nuns and Priests: Sensations of the Cloister Charlotte Brontë's Villette and the Monologues of Robert Browning	77
3 Persecution and Martyrdom: The Law and the Body Grace Aguilar's The Vale of Cedars, or The Martyr and George Eliot's Romola	131
4 Feeling the Great Change: Conversion and the Authority of Affect Benjamin Disraeli's Lothair , J. H. Shorthouse's John Inglesant and Mary Ward's Helbeck of Bannisdale	177
5 Art Catholicism and the New Catholic Baroque The Poetry of Gerard Manley Hopkins and Francis Thompson	231
Epilogue	284
Works Cited	292
Index	311