

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	ix
List of Maps	xi
Preface	xvii
Introduction	1
Crusade Historiography in Denmark	2
The Golden Age	5
New Trends	9
International Crusade Historiography	13
Denmark in the Late Middle Ages and the Early Modern Period	24

PART ONE

CRUSADES AT THE ENDS OF THE EARTH, 1400–1523

Chapter One Kalmar Union and the Crusade, 1397–1523 ...	35
Denmark and the Crusade in the Fourteenth Century	35
Valdemar IV and the Crusade	39
Crusades and Herrings	46
Crusades in Scandinavia 1400–1448	50
Papal Collectors	51
The Crusade and the Teutonic Knights	54
Crusades against the Hussites	56
Denmark and the Hussite Crusades	59
Christopher of Bavaria and the Crusade	68
Christian I and Crusades against the Turk 1448–1481	70
The Norwegian Problem	70
Crusades against the Turks and Peace in the North	74
The Fall of Constantinople	77
The Northern Frontier	82
The Collection of Funds by Marinus de Fregeno	92
The Crusade of Pius II	96
From Ancona to the Fall of Negroponte 1464–1470	97

Preaching the Crusades	104
Preaching the Crusades	104
Spreading the Word	111
Crusade Liturgy	113
Letters of Indulgence	121
Crusading Nuns	124
Crusade Literature	127
Crusades against the Russians	132
King Hans and the Crusade against the Turk	148
Christian II and the Crusade: Part I	154
 Chapter Two Greenland and the Crusades	 159
The Forgotten Periphery	160
The Skrælings	163
The Heathens of the Far North	171
Crusade in the Atlantic	181
The Southern Front	183
The Northern Front	185
Danish Crusades to India	190
Danish Crusades in India	197
Conclusions: The Forgotten Crusades	203

PART TWO

CRUSADES AFTER THE REFORMATION

Chapter Three Crusade and Reformation	209
Christian II and the Crusade: Part II	210
Exile, Protestantism, and the Crusade	210
The Last Danish Crusade?	219
Martin Luther and the War against the Turk	220
Luther and the Turkish Advance	222
Secular War and Martyrdom	229
Ob Kriegsleute auch in seligem Stande sein können?	236
The War against the Turks	241
The Right Intention	251
Apocalyptic Thoughts Concerning the Turk	253
Liturgical War against the Turks	256
Conclusions	262

Chapter Four Protestant Crusades?	267
Christian III and War against the Turks	268
Paulus Helie and the Lutheran Turks	270
Denmark, Protestantism, and the Crusade	272
Spiritual Warfare against the Turks	275
Peder Palladius and the Turks	277
Protestantism and Religious War, 1559–1648	283
Liturgical Warfare	289
The war against the Turks	294
The Turks in the North Atlantic	296
Pilgrims to the Holy Sepulchre	301
Crusade in Literature and Print	309
Prince Svend	316
The Order of the Armed Arm	317
The Knights of Saint John in Scandinavia	318
Orders of Chivalry in Denmark	321
The Order of the Elephant	321
The Legend and the Order of Dannebrog	327
Denmark in the Thirty Years' War	331
The Lion of the North	333
Explanations for Defeat	335
Conclusion	339
Appendix A	349
Illustrations
Bibliography	353
Manuscript Sources	353
Abbreviations	353
Literature and Sources	355
Index	389