

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Preface	1
Introduction	3
1. PHENOMENOLOGY AND FILM
Origins	21
The Spectrum of Film Consciousness	24
Dialectic Misgivings	29
2. PHENOMENOLOGICAL GROUNDING
Realist Theory	34
Real to Reel	36
Lifeworld Encounters	37
Intentionality	45
Phenomenological Hermeneutics	49
Gadamer's Play	53
3. BODY AND TRANSCENDENCE
Merleau-Ponty's Embodiment	56
Expression to Meaning	61
Bazin's Ontology	66
The Negating Self	71
Transcendental Survival	74
4. REEL TIME
Temporal Objectivities	81

Self-Constituting Flux	85
Internal Time-Consciousness	87
Future Expectation	90
Bergson: Movement and Intermediate Imagery	94
Reelising Memory	98
Bridging Gaps	103
5. WALTER BENJAMIN: THE NEW REALM OF FILM CONSCIOUSNESS
Materialism and Allegory	106
Dialectical Images	111
Mechanical Reproduction and Aura	119
Returning the Gaze: Aura Transformed	126
Benjamin and Surrealism	132
Distraction and Innervation	140
6. DELEUZE AND CINEMA
Montage and Movement-Image	146
Eisenstein Montage	149
Imaging Thought Process	152
Affectivity and the Interval	155
Vertov and the Machinic	158
Liquid Subjectivity	163
7. MARKING TIME
Thinking Otherwise	168
Forks of Time	173
Aberrance and Problem Ideas	178
The Split Self	180
Time-Out-of-Joint	182
Film Events	187
Outside of Film	191
Chapter Notes	195
Bibliography	209
Index	215