

Contents

Preface ix

- 1 The Roots of Lynching in Colonial and Revolutionary North America 3
Criminal justice and the death penalty in colonial North America and early modern Europe. The death penalty as a communal ritual of retribution. The punishment of slaves. Slavery's legacy for the history of lynching. The Paxton Massacre. The Regulator Movement. Mobs as instruments of law enforcement. Mob action in the American Revolution. Colonel Charles Lynch of Virginia in the War of Independence.
- 2 The Rise of Lynch Law in Antebellum America 23
The 1830s wave of mob violence. Modernization in the antebellum era. Jacksonian democracy. The lynching of the Vicksburg gamblers. Southern honor and violence. The rise of militant pro-slavery. Anti-abolitionist mob violence. Insurrection panics. Slavery, rape, and criminal justice in the South. The lynching of alleged black Criminals. Anti-slavery violence in the North.
- 3 Frontier Justice 45
The frontier theory of lynching. Vigilante justice in the early nineteenth century. Violence and vigilantism in the trans-Mississippi West. Anti-Mexican violence during the California Gold Rush. The 1851 and 1856 San Francisco vigilance committees. Lynching in the Rocky Mountains region. The Colorado people's court. The lynching of cattle rustlers. Public approval of frontier justice. Hubert Bancroft's Popular Tribunals.
- 4 Lynching, Riots, and Political Terror in the Civil War Years 69
The New York draft riots. The Great Hanging at Gainesville, Texas. The weakening of slavery during the Civil War. The lynching of Saxe Joiner. Southern white fears after emancipation. Race and Reconstruction. The Ku Klux Klan. Rape and racism. Northern reactions to Klan terrorism. Redemption. The cultural legacy of Reconstruction mob violence.
- 5 "Indescribable Barbarism": The Lynching of African Americans in the Age of Jim Crow 90
The lynching of Henry Smith in Paris, Texas. Lynch law as racist terrorism in the Jim Crow South. Populism. The rape myth. Lynching as punishment for black-on-white murder. Planter paternalism. The lynching of Jesse Washington in Waco, Texas. Elite participants in lynch mobs. White women as perpetrators and apologists. Black women as lynch victims. The lynching of blacks in the North. Black resistance and self-defense. Black-on-black lynchings.

- 6 Popular Justice Beyond Black and White 117
The lynching of Mexicans. Native Americans as lynch victims. Mob violence against Chinese immigrants. The lynching of Italians. The Leo Frank affair. The lynching of Robert Prager. Popular justice against white criminals. White women as lynch victims. The 1933 dual lynching in San Jose, California.
- 7 The Struggle Against Lynching 144
Lynching declines in the early twentieth century. The Claude Neal lynching. African Americans organize. Southern white opposition to lynch law. The scientific study of Lynching. Shaming the American people. The quest for anti-lynching legislation. Southern sheriffs and the prevention of lynching. The death penalty as a substitute for lynching. Legal lynchings.
- 8 From Lynching to Hate Crime 165
Lynching goes underground. Racial change in the World War II years. The quadruple slaying in Monroce, Georgia. The lynching of Willie Earle. The Emmett Till case. The lynching of Charles “Mack” Parker. Racist terrorism against civil rights workers. The murder of Michael Donald. Hate crime legislation. Lynching as metaphor.
- 9 Lynching in American Memory and Culture 186
The 2005 Senate apology. “Without Sanctuary.” Compensation for victims of racial violence. Reopening criminal investigations. The fragmented memory of lynching. Holocaust analogy. The death penalty as a legacy of lynching. The endurance of the vigilante tradition.
- A Note on Sources* 199
- Index* 207
- About the Author* 213