

Contents

| | |
|---|----|
| I. Defining the Notion of 'Specialized Discourse'..... | 9 |
| 1. The issue of terminology..... | 14 |
| 2. The multi-dimensional nature of specialized discourse..... | 16 |
| 3. General features of specialized discourse..... | 20 |

Linguistic Features

| | |
|---|----|
| II. Lexical Features of Specialized Discourse..... | 25 |
| 1. Monoreferentiality..... | 25 |
| 2. Lack of emotion..... | 26 |
| 3. Precision..... | 27 |
| 4. Transparency..... | 28 |
| 5. Conciseness..... | 31 |
| 6. Conservatism..... | 32 |
| 6.1. Reforming legal discourse..... | 33 |
| 7. Redundancy in specialized discourse..... | 37 |
| 8. The relationship with general language..... | 40 |
| 9. Metaphor in specialized discourse..... | 42 |
| 10. Lexical productivity..... | 46 |
| III. Syntactic Features of Specialized Discourse..... | 49 |
| 1. Omission of phrasal elements..... | 49 |
| 2. Expressive conciseness..... | 51 |
| 3. Premodification..... | 55 |
| 4. Nominalization..... | 58 |
| 5. Lexical density..... | 61 |
| 6. Sentence complexity..... | 63 |
| 7. Sentence length..... | 65 |

| | |
|--|--------|
| 8. Use of verb tenses..... | 70 |
| 9. Use of the passive..... | 74 |
| 10. Depersonalisation | 76 |
| IV. Textual Features of Specialized Discourse..... | 79 |
| 1. Anaphoric reference | 79 |
| 2. Use of conjunctions | 83 |
| 3. Thematic sequence | 84 |
| 4. Text genres | 87 |
| 5. Textual organisation | 92 |
| 6. Speech acts | 98 |
| 7. Argumentative pattern | 100 |

Changing Conventions

| | |
|--|---------|
| V. The Development of Specialized Discourse in the 17th Century | 107 |
| 1. Developments in specialized lexis..... | 110 |
| 2. The opaqueness of language..... | 113 |
| 3. The transparency of language..... | 115 |
| 4. The conciseness of language | 117 |
| 5. The evolution of the syntax of specialized texts..... | 120 |
| 6. Conclusions | 122 |
| VI. The Origins of the Experimental Essay | 123 |
| 1. The main features of experimental essays | 125 |
| 1.1. Brevity | 126 |
| 1.2. Lack of assertiveness | 129 |
| 1.3. Perspicuity | 130 |
| 1.4. Simplicity of form..... | 134 |
| 1.5. Objectivity | 136 |
| 2. The evolution of the experimental essay | 139 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| VII. Specialized Discourse in The Philosophical Transactions | 141 |
| 1. Early forms of specialized news dissemination..... | 142 |
| 1.1. Communal correspondence..... | 142 |
| 1.2. The minutes of the Royal Society..... | 143 |
| 1.3. Early scientific publications..... | 144 |
| 2. Features of the Philosophical Transactions | 144 |
| 2.1. Aims..... | 144 |
| 2.2. Editorial role | 145 |
| 2.3. Text types..... | 148 |
| 2.3.1. News items | 149 |
| 2.3.2. Experimental accounts..... | 152 |
| 2.3.3. Letters | 157 |
| 2.3.4. Book reviews | 158 |
| 3. Conclusion..... | 161 |

Developments and Case studies

| | |
|---|-----|
| VIII. The Formation of the Lexis of Computer Science..... | 167 |
| 1. Main features of the lexis of computer science | 167 |
| 1.1. Specialization and borrowing | 168 |
| 1.2. Neology..... | 169 |
| 1.3. Acronymy and abbreviation..... | 172 |
| 2. Recent developments..... | 173 |
| 3. Conclusion..... | 176 |
| IX. The Language of Popularisation..... | 179 |
| 1. Popularisation and translation | 180 |
| 2. Linguistic features of popularisation | 181 |
| 3. Definition in popularised texts | 182 |
| X. Aspects of Individuality in J.M. Keynes' General Theory | 191 |
| 1. Subjectivity in the use of terminology..... | 193 |
| 2. Authorial presence..... | 196 |

| | |
|-----------------------------------|-----|
| 3. Argumentative strategies | 197 |
| 4. Emotional involvement | 201 |
| 5. Reader involvement..... | 206 |
| 6. Conclusion..... | 208 |
| | |
| Appendices | 211 |
| References | 221 |