

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Note on Transliterations and Translations xi

Preface xiii

1 Cultural Globalization, the “Posts,” and the Second World 3

PART ONE

RUSSIA: POSTMODERN TRANSFORMATIONS OF THE COMMUNIST METROPOLY

2 Iosif Vissarionovich Pushkin, or The Transformational Momentum of Sots-Art 59

3 Travels through Heterotopia: The Other Worlds of Post-Soviet Russian
Fiction 88

4 Transfigurations: Postmodern Articulations of Gender and Corporeality 114

5 The End of House Arrest: Queerness and Textuality in Contemporary Russia 146

PART TWO

UKRAINE: BEING POSTCOLONIAL IN THE SECOND WORLD

- 6 Allegorical Journeys, or The Metamorphoses of Magic Realism 185
- 7 The (Post)colonial (Post)carnavalesque, or The Poetics and Politics of Bu-Ba-Bu 206
- 8 Confronting Traumas: The Gendered/Nationed Body as Narrative and Spectacle 228
- Conclusion 265
- Notes 269
- Bibliography 327
- Index 355