

Contents

| | | |
|-----------------|--|------|
| Foreword | Sandra Harding | ix |
| Acknowledgments | | xiii |
| Introduction | Troublemaking Allies George Yancy | xv |
| Chapter 1 | White Ignorance and the Denials of Complicity: On the Possibility of Doing Philosophy in Good Faith Barbara Applebaum | 1 |
| Chapter 2 | Reading Black Philosophers in Chronological Order Audrey Thompson | 27 |
| Chapter 3 | On Intersectionality and the Whiteness of Feminist Philosophy Alison Bailey | 51 |
| Chapter 4 | The Man of Culture: The Civilized and the Barbarian in Western Philosophy Lisa Heldke | 77 |
| Chapter 5 | Whiteness and Rationality: Feminist Dialogue on Race in Academic Institutional Spaces Crista Lebens | 99 |
| Chapter 6 | Appropriate Subjects: Whiteness and the Discipline of Philosophy Alexis Shotwell | 117 |

| | | |
|------------------------|---|-----|
| Chapter 7 | Color in the Theory of Colors? Or: Are Philosophers' Colors All White? Berit Brogaard | 131 |
| Chapter 8 | The Secularity of Philosophy: Race, Religion, and the Silence of Exclusion Shannon Sullivan | 153 |
| Chapter 9 | Philosophy's Whiteness and the Loss of Wisdom Susan E. Babbitt | 167 |
| Chapter 10 | Against the Whiteness of Ethics: Dilemmatizing as a Critical Approach Lisa Tessman | 193 |
| Chapter 11 | The Whiteness of Anti-Racist White Philosophical Address Cris Mayo | 211 |
| Chapter 12 | Colonial Practices/Colonial Identities: All the Women are Still White Sarah Lucia Hoagland | 227 |
| Chapter 13 | Is Philosophy Anything if it Isn't White? Cynthia Kaufman | 245 |
| Index | | 265 |
| About the Contributors | | 273 |