

Italy's Three Crowns
Reading Dante, Petrarch and Boccaccio

Edited by
Zygmunt G. Barański and Martin McLaughlin

Bodleian Library
UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD

Contents

	Introduction
	Zygmunt G. Barański and Martin McLaughlin	6
Chapter 1	'Honour the loftiest poet': Dante's reception in fourteenth-century Italy
	Zygmunt G. Barański	9
Chapter 2	Petrarch: between two ages, between two languages
	Martin McLaughlin	23
Chapter 3	Boccaccio visualized in manuscript and print
	Christopher C. Stevens	39
Chapter 4	Dante's reception in fifteenth- and sixteenth-century Italy
	Simon A. Gilson	58
Chapter 5	Dante's nineteenth-century reception: Francesca da Rimini and the idea of Italy
	Alex MacMillan	73
Chapter 6	Dante and the Rossetti family
	John Woodhouse	82
Chapter 7	Paget Toynbee's Dante collection
	Diego Zancani	94
Chapter 8	Hershey Heaven and Dante's Hell
	Tom Phillips	104
	Further Reading	117
	Notes	119