

JEROME LECTURES TWENTY-FOURTH SERIES

---

Speaking Ruins

PIRANESI, ARCHITECTS,
AND ANTIQUITY IN
EIGHTEENTH-CENTURY ROME

John A. Pinto

THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN PRESS

Ann Arbor

Contents

List of Illustrations	xv
Introduction	i
CHAPTER ONE. The Perspective of Janus	ii
Carlo Fontana: Architecture and Erudition	12
Filippo Juvarra: Architecture and Archaeology	32
Francesco Bianchini: Evidence and Fantasy	38
Fischer von Erlach: Architecture and History	43
CHAPTER TWO. Taste, Ornament, and the Antique	51
Nicola Salvi and the Trevi Fountain	52
Piranesi's "New Ornaments and New Manners"	64
Santa Maria del Priorato	75
Projects for the Lateran Tribune	82
The MacDonald Monument	90
Conclusion	97
CHAPTER THREE. Piranesi's "Speaking Ruins"	99
Piranesi's Response to Roman Architecture	100
Fragment and Fantasy	121
Piranesi and the Forma Urbis Romae	132
"Love for Antiquity": The Direct Experience of the Site	146

CHAPTER FOUR. Giovanni Battista and Francesco Piranesi: The Late Archaeological Publications	157
Hadrian's Villa	157
Lago Fucino	159
Pompeii	175
Paestum	198
Conclusion	214
CHAPTER FIVE. A Wider Prospect: Expanding the Repertoire of Classicism	217
The Formative Experience of Rome	223
Wood and Dawkins	233
Stuart and Revett	245
Robert Adam and "The Beautiful Spirit of Antiquity"	257
Conclusion	275
Bibliography	279
Index	297

Photo section following page 216