

Table of Contents

Friedrich Schweitzer, Wolfgang Ilg, Peter Schreiner

Introduction	7
--------------------	---

I General Studies and Overviews

Wolfgang Ilg

Youth counts! Mapping Christian youth work in Germany empirically and identifying presuppositions of educationally active congregations	19
---	----

Judith Könemann, Clauß Peter Sajak

Catholic religious education in Germany. The sustainability of formal and non-formal learning	35
---	----

Heid Leganger-Krogstad

The characteristics of non-formal religious education in a folk church. The Norwegian education reform	51
--	----

Thomas Schlag, Rahel Voirol-Sturzenegger

Religious education in the Swiss Reformed Churches as a promising hybrid between non-formal and formal education	71
--	----

Fahimah Ulfat

Researching non-formal religious education in Islamic contexts. Studies from Germany	85
--	----

Lena Wolking

Cooperation between Christian youth work and schools in Germany. A research project	95
---	----

II Kindergarten

Alexandra Wörn, Golde Wissner, Lena Wolking, Rebecca Nowack

Researching interreligious and intercultural education in German kindergartens. Three empirical projects – their approaches and methodologies	115
---	-----

Martin Rothgangel, Martin Jäggle

Islamic kindergarten. A controversial debate on non-formal religious education in Austria	131
---	-----

III Sunday School

Yauheniya Danilovich

- Researching non-formal religious education in the Orthodox Church. The first empirical study on Sunday Schools in Belarus 151

Peter Schreiner

- Sunday School and worship activities with children. Empirical findings and perspectives from the Protestant church in Germany 167

IV First Communion Preparation and Confirmation Work

Stefan Altmeyer, Reinhold Boschki

- Researching the effects of First Communion preparation. Empirical results of a national survey on religious education in German Catholic parishes in the perspective of religious identity formation 185

Leise Christensen

- Non-formal religious education: The notion of mini-confirmands in Denmark 203

Per Pettersson

- Profiling confirmation work as a marketing strategy. A case study from Sweden 219

Henrik Simojoki

- Researching confirmation work in Europe. An example of research on non-formal education 235

V Young Volunteers

Friedrich Schweitzer

- Researching voluntary commitment after confirmation and long-term effects of confirmation work. Perspectives from Germany 251

Kati Tervo-Niemelä

- What happens after volunteering? 10-Year longitudinal research on young volunteers in Finland 267

VI Observations and conclusions

Friedrich Schweitzer, Wolfgang Ilg, Peter Schreiner

- Conclusions 281

Authors 295