

Contents ^A

List of illustrations	ix
Abbreviations	xi
Notes on contributors	xv
Acknowledgements	xix

Introduction	1
Tony Chafer and Alexander Keese

Part I: Zero hour approaches

1 Gaston Defferre's Loi-Cadre and its application, 1956/57: last chance for a French African 'empire-state' or blueprint for decolonisation?	15
Martin Shipway
2 A vocation for independence: Guinean nationalism in the 1950s	30
Mairi MacDonald
3 French officials and the insecurities of change in sub-Saharan Africa: Dakar, 19 August 1960 revisited	44
Alexander Keese

Part II: Military transitions

4 'Saving French West Africa': the French army, African soldiers and military propaganda during the 1950s	61
Ruth Ginio
5 The French Army and Malian independence (1956–1961)	75
Vincent Joly

6	Transfer of military power in Mauritania: from Ecouvillon to Lamantin (1958–1978) Camille Evrard	90
 Part III: Continuities and connections
7	Franco-African security relations at fifty: writing violence, security and the geopolitical imaginary Bruno Charbonneau	107
8	French coopération in the field of education (1960–1980): a story of disillusionment Samy Mesli	120
9	Jacques Foccart: Eminence grise for African affairs Jean-Pierre Bat	135
 Part IV: Anglo-French relations
10	Whitehall, the French Community and the Year of Africa: negotiating post-independence diplomacy in West Africa Mélanie Torrent	155
11	A transnational decolonisation: Britain, France and the Rhodesian problem, 1965–1969 Joanna Warson	171
 Part V: Nationalist trajectories, border issues and conflicted memories
12	The changing boundaries of resistance: the UPC and France in Cameroonian history and memory Thomas Sharp	189
13	A fragmented and forgotten decolonisation: the end of European empires in the Sahara and their legacy Berny Sèbe	204
14	Through the prism of the cinquantenaire : Côte d'Ivoire between refondation and Houphouët's legacy Kathrin Heitz	219
15	Chad's political violence at 50: bullets, ballots and bases David Styan	233
	Bibliography	249
	Index	275