

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	vii
Series Editors' Preface	viii
Preface to the Volume	xii
Chapter 1 by John Bull
HISTORICAL, POLITICAL AND CULTURAL CONTEXT	1
In the Beginning	1
Whose History are we Talking About?	2
A Musical Interlude	4
The Establishment and its Discontents	6
Never Had It So Good	10
The 1964 General Election and Extra-Parliamentary Activity	12
May 1968 and its Aftermath	19
1966–70: The Ups	22
1966–70: The Downs	27
The 1970 General Election	31
The Troubles	34
The Oil Crisis and the Three-Day Week	36
Feminism and Gay Rights	39
1974–6	41
The Left against Racism	43
The Winter of Discontent and the 1979 General Election	46
Chapter 2 by John Bull
FRINGE AND ALTERNATIVE THEATRE COMPANIES, 1965–79	49
Fringe and Alternative	49
Funding and Subsidy	52
The Arts Council of Great Britain (ACGB)	54
The Workings of the Arts Council	56
Case Study: The Arts Council of Great Britain and its Clients: Pirate Jenny, 'Oh lord won't you buy me ...?'	61
Venues and Touring	67
Popular Theatre Companies	72
Agit-Prop Theatre Companies	79
Agit-Prop Theatre Case Study: Red Ladder and Belts and Braces move towards the 1980s	80

British Black and Asian Theatre Companies	86
Feminist and Gay Theatre Companies	92
New Writing and Adaptation Companies	96
Theatre-in-Education (TiE)	100
Case Study: Key Perspectives and the demise of classic TiE	103
Community Theatre Companies	106
Case Study: Action Space	111
Performance Art Companies	115
Chapter 3 by Bill McDonnell
CAST	121
Chapter 4 by Grant Peterson
THE PEOPLE SHOW	147
Chapter 5 by Chris Megson
PORTABLE THEATRE	171
Chapter 6 by Kate Dorney
PIP SIMMONS THEATRE GROUP	195
Chapter 7 by Gillian Whiteley
WELFARE STATE INTERNATIONAL	223
Chapter 8 by David Pattie
7:84 THEATRE COMPANIES	251
Bibliography	275
Notes on Contributors	305
Index	307