

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
1 Introduction: Networking Modernism—Katherine Mansfield and the Garsington Connection Todd Martin	1
Part 1 Katherine Mansfield and Bloomsbury Friendships
2 “I wonder if you know what your visits were to me”: Mansfield, Woolf, and Modernist Hospitality Christine Darrohn	17
3 A Critical Duet: Katherine Mansfield and Virginia Woolf Reviewing their Contemporaries Sydney Janet Kaplan	39
4 Katherine Mansfield and Aldous Huxley: A Blighted Friendship Gerri Kimber	53
5 “Feuille d’Album”: Katherine Mansfield’s Prufrockian Encounter with T. S. Eliot Janet Wilson	73
6 “Memorials of the Dead”: Walter de la Mare, Katherine Mansfield, and the Literary Afterlife Jenny McDonnell	91
7 Mansfield and Dunning: An “important and shadowy” Friendship Erika Baldt	107
8 Turning the Tables: Katherine Mansfield and W. L. George Ann Herndon Marshall	125
Part 2 Katherine Mansfield and Literary Bloomsbury
9 Katherine Mansfield: A Fauvist, Colonial Outsider Encounters Bloomsbury Mary Ann Gillies	145

10	Modernist Emotions: The Critical Writings of Katherine Mansfield and Virginia Woolf Chris Mourant	161
11	Space of Debate, Debating Space: A Look at Irreverent Bloomsbury through the Lens of Mansfield's Stories Ruchi Mundeja	181
12	Performances of Knowledge in Mansfield's Bloomsbury Satires Alex Moffett	201
13	An Invitation to the Table: Katherine Mansfield's "A Cup of Tea" and Literary London Richard Cappuccio	219
	Selected Bibliography	235
	Contributors	238
	Index	242