

Table of Contents

Notes on Contributors	7
Preface: Ghosts – or the (Nearly) Invisible	11
Maik Hildebrandt
Medieval Ghosts: the Stories of the Monk of Byland	13
Ruth Heholt
Speaking of Seeing Ghosts: Visions of the Supernatural in the Tales of Catherine Crowe.....	25
Eleanor Dobson
The Ghost of Oscar Wilde: Fictional Representations.....	35
Kati Voigt
Ghostly Science or Scientific Ghosts: The Fourth Spatial Dimension in Children's Literature	45
Claudia Richter
Carl Gustav Jung and the Ghosts	57
Désirée Kriesch
'They only see what they wanna see': Traumatised Ghosts and Ghost Story Conventions in The Sixth Sense and The Others	71
Clausdirk Pollner
'At the Hollow, there was Magic' The Language of Kim Newman's Ghost Novel.....	87
Dominik Becher
Neil Gaiman's Ghost Children.....	91
Julia Kunz
The Ghost as a Metaphor for Memory in the Irish Literary Psyche	107

Sophie Thiele

- “I Know not who these Mute Folk Are” – Ghostly Houses in Early Twentieth Century English and American Poetry 115

Johanna Grabow

- Haunting the Wide, White Page – Ghosts in Antarctica 125

Julia Pfeifer

- The Loa as Ghosts in Haitian Vodou 137

Minwen Huang

- From Cultural Ghosts to Literary Ghosts – Humanisation of Chinese Ghosts in Chinese Zhiguai 147

Vera Shamina

- Mystic Motifs in Silver Age Poetry and Prose 161